Military Draft May Be Halted By Federal Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to analyze Selective Service histories of possibly 290,000 men as part of a massive study that could lead to a halt in the military draft.

Officials told The Associated Press today that Pentagon experts conducting the draft studies for President Johnson have asked the Selective Service System to take a 1 per cent sample of the records of all men in the draft pool.

This involves men between 18½ and 35. Selective Service headquarters said there are about 29 million men in that pool.

The purpose of the sample, authorities explained, will be to "get a more definitive view of the status of people within the pool," from which men are called for induction.

Among other things, the sample will seek to find out to what extent men have moved from one deferred classification to another, thus avoiding induction.

In the case of a man of 35, for example, a study of his file would trace what had happened over the years since he became draft-eligible.

Men being drafted these days average about 22 years old. Roughly 100,000 men a year are inducted, all of them going into the Army.

A little-noticed request to Congress calls for $375,000 to finance the sampling job this fiscal year.

In another phase of the Johnson-ordered study, it was

Aspen Leaves, Are Turning, Report Says

Aspen leaves are starting to turn at higher elevations along the Pikes Peak Highway, according to Jack Sullivan, road superintendent.

He said that by this weekend there should be enough turned to turn the highway into a magnificent autumnal sight.

Many residents of the region wait until fall to drive up the highway during the aspen season.

Sullivan said 1,800 persons went through the toll gate during the past weekend to bring the number of visitors for the year to 243,000, which is about 8,000 less than for all of 1963.

The toll gate is open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

The highway will stay open as long as a sufficient number of persons drive to the summit or until the first heavy snow.

Capt. Hoyt Mann Heads NORAD Naval Forces

Navy Capt. Hoyt D. Mann assumed command of the Naval Forces, Continental Air Defense Command, Monday morning in brief ceremonies. A component activity of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), the Naval Forces staff is headquartered at Ent Air Force Base.

Capt. John L. McMahon, chief staff officer, who joined the Naval Forces Staff on Aug. 1, served as the acting commander until Capt. Mann's arrival.

The new commander, Naval Forces, reports here from Washington, D.C. For the past two years he served as the director of the Flight Operations Division in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

Over the past 28 years, Capt. Mamn has distinguished himself as an aviator, as a ship's line officer with commands, and as a staff officer.

For his war exploits of World War II he holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Bronze Star — an award of valor in combat, and the Air Medal. He

Ray R. Herst Appointed GT City Editor

Herst will succeed Robin Tibbets, who resigned to take a position in another state.

Herst had been an employe of the Gazette Telegraph since Jan. 18, 1963, and has editied Leisuretime since February. He also has worked on most other news beats during his time with the paper.

Herst is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., and studied at the University of Pittsburgh.

He began his news career with the West Virginian, a daily newspaper at Fairmont, W. Va. From there, he moved to the Daily Press at Newport News, Va.

The new city editor is 27, married, and father of three children. His wife, Carol Sue, is a native of West Virginia. The Herst children are Mary Lynne, 11, Michael, 5, and Christopher Lee, 2. The family lives at 1213 Rockwood, Stratton Meadows.

Monarch Pass Area Searched For Lost Plane

DENVER (UPI)—Three persons were reported overdue today on a flight from Idaho Falls, Idaho, to Miami, Okla.

The pilot of the plane was identified as Dale M. Homer, a partner in Flight Inc. of Idaho Falls. Also aboard were Homer's wife and an unidentified passenger.

The Colorado Civil Air Patrol said ground parties braved snow and rain in Colorado's Monarch Pass area Monday night to look for the plane.

Homer last reported over Gunnison, Colo., at 2 p.m. Monday. He did not land at Liberal, Kan., a refueling stop, as scheduled at 4 p.m.

The CAP said if the weather improved, a dozen or more planes would conduct an air search during the day.

Taking part in Monday night's ground search were CAP crews from Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, Canon City, Gunnison and Grand Junction.

The three reportedly were flying to Miami to visit Mrs. Homer's mother, Mrs. Earl Sanmire. They were flying a red and white Cessna 182.

Six Indonesian Guerrillas Die In Malaysia

By TONY ESCODA

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Six Indonesian guerrillas were killed today in a fresh outbreak of fighting in Malaysia's southwest jungles, the government said.

Several other guerillas were reported captured during the day, indicating widespread action in the Labis area of Johore State where about 50 parachutists were dropped Sept. 2. Thus far 18 guerrillas have been slain and unofficial estimate of the number captured exceed 30.

British Gurkha troops intensified patrol activities in Labis over the weekend. British jets fired rockets into the jungles to flush out the guerrillas.

The new fighting followed goverenment reports that another Indonesian landing was staged on the Malayan mainland last week.

Scottish Band Demands New Kilts for Music

"They are still wearing kilts bought in 1906," said a spokesman. "Since then the City Council has contributed nothing to the band's upkeep.

"Last week they played before the Queen but now they feel they can accept no more public engagements because of the state of their kilts."

The Police Committee said it would recommend payment of $1,820 for new kilts and plaids. The bandsmen will have to make do with renovated sporrans — the fur purses worn in front of the kilt — and feather bonnets.

CC Announces Plans for $2.25 Million Humanities-Administration Building

Colorado College was granted $2.25 million this morning by the Olin Foundation of New York for a humanities classroom and administrative center building with an 800-seat auditorium.

The announcement was made during the college's annual fall convocation by Dr. Charles L. Horn of Minneapolis, Minn., president of the foundation.

The grant pushed the college's $5.5 million Ford Foundation matching campaign, now in its closing stages, over the top.

In accepting the grant Dr. Lloyd E. Worner, president of Colorado College, noted it was the largest single gift ever made to the 90-year-old college.

This is the second major gift Colorado College has received from the Olin Foundation. In May 1960, the foundation announced a gift of $1.52 million for the construction of Olin Hall of Science, dedicated nearly two years ago.

When completed, the four-floor building will be the largest on campus.

"This splendid gift will enable us to construct a classroom building that will provide the same ample facilities in the humanities that Olin Hall made possible for the natural sciences," President Worner said. "The Olin Foundation has once again anticipated an urgent need and has responded with financing which will do the whole job."

Armin B. Barney, chairman of the CC Board of Trustees, said the new building, together with Olin Hall and Tutt Library and the remodeling of Palmer Hall, would round out the college's classroom building program.

A gymnasium building and a men's residence hall remain as priority building needs on the campus.

The Olin Foundation was established in 1938 by the late Franklin W. Olin who founded Olin Industries, Inc., which later became the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation. The Foundation in recent years has made building grants to independent colleges and universities.

The new building, which will harmonize architecturally with Tutt Library, will be located on the northeast corner of Cascade Avenue and Cache la Poudre. It will replace two 19th century buildings, old Coburn Library and Perkins Hall.

Construction will get under way in a few weeks. Completion is expected in mid-1966.

The building will feature red and charcoal brick as in Olin Hall. The recessed first floor with glass walls, and the vertical slit windows on the second and third floors will be similar to Tutt Library.

Containing 113,000 square feet, the structure will measure 276 by 116 feet. It will be one foot longer than Palmer Hall and 16 feet wider.

Architects for the building are Caudill, Rowlett and Scott of Houston, Tex., designers of Olin Hall and the Boettcher Health Center. Carlisle B. Guy of Colorado Springs is associate architect.

Working closely with the architects in planning the building was a faculty committee headed by Dr. E. Darnell Rucker, professor of philosophy.

About three quarters of the building will be for departments in the humanities division. The western portions of the ground floor and the first and second floors will serve as an administrative center.

The new structure will enable the college to consolidate under one roof administrative offices now scattered in three separate buildings.

College officials said historic Cutler Hall, which houses the offices of the president, deans, and business and registrar's of-

Makarios Agrees To Lift Blockade Of Cyprus Turks

By ALEX EFTY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — U.N. officials said today President Makarios has agreed to lift the economic blockade of Turkish Cypriot communities off Cyprus some time this week.

Makarios reportedly relented under heavy pressure from Galo Plaza, U.N. chief representative on Cyprus and Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, commander of the peace force.

U.N. officials have warned Makarios ever since he imposed the blockade early last month that cutting food supplies to the Turkish Cypriots might bring armed action from Turkey.

Turkey announced last week it would break the blockade by using a naval-air convoy to ship food to the hard-pressed village of Kokkina, on the northwest coast. Makarios' regime declared this would be considered an invasion.

The Turks dropped their convoy plan Monday, and Makarios then said Turkey could land relief supplies for Kokkina at the port of Famagusta.

Lightning, Hurricanes Delay Space Flight Plan

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Lightning and hurricanes have dashed U.S. hopes for a manned space flight this year, Dr. George E. Mueller, National Aeronautics and Space Administration associate administrator, has announced.

The manned Gemini mission has been postponed from December to sometime in the first three months of 1965, Mueller said.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young have been selected to fly the two-man spacecraft in three orbits of the earth.

Mueller said lightning which struck the Gemini pad Aug. 17, damaging scores of electronic diodes in the Titan 2 rocket and the dismantling of the rocket to protect it from hurricane Cleo and Dora forced the delay.

The Titan 2 is to launch an unmanned Gemini spacecraft on a ballistic flight down the Atlantic. Data from this firing is required before a manned mission is attempted.

Mueller said the launch now is scheduled for the last three months in 1964. Most observers say November will be the soonest the rocket can be ready. It was re-erected Monday.

Quarter Million Children Boycott New York Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — White pupils again boycotted New York's public schools today, protesting a program of racially integrating classrooms by busing children away from their neighborhoods.

For the second and final day of the protest, parents returned to picket lines in greater numbers than before. Police said 2,352 persons marched at 194 schools.

Attendance figures were being compiled by school authorities with an anxious eye on possible loss in state aid exceeding $2 million.

Absenteeism Monday, the opening of a new academic year, was more than a quarter of a million children.

Isolated checks this morning indicated a substantial loss of attendance.

A Brooklyn school completely vacant Monday had only one pupil present today out of an enrollment of 398. At a Bronx school a milkman delivered only 75 cartons of milk for lunches, compared to the customary 480.

Vatican Council To Deliberate on Episcopal Powers

By BENNETT M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Given strong impetus by Pope Paul VI, the 2,500 Roman Catholic bishops of the Vatican Ecumenical Council start work today on a schema to define sharing of some Papal powers with the bishops.

The pontiff at the ceremonial opening of the council's third session Monday virtually commanded the prelates to clarify "the doctrine of the papacy which will place in its splendid light the role and mandate of the episcopate."

The schema, or topic, before the council at its working session today was titled "De Ecclesia" — on the nature of the church.

It has been considerably changed from the version that the council debated, through its first four chapters at its second session last fall.

The council now must discuss the fifth and sixth chapters. It also will decide whether to accept or reject amendments offered for the first four chapters. Chapter five is on eschatology — the theology of death, judgment, heaven and hell — and chapter six on the place of the Virgin Mary in the Church.

The first four chapters are

Hungary, Vatican Reach Agreement On Church Policy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican and Communist Hungary today signed an agreement on Roman Catholic activity in Hungary, and Pope Paul VI named five new Hungarian bishops. The status of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty was left unsettled.

Federal Job Corps Site Sought at Woodland Park

By JOHN KUGLIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

A site about 10 miles north of Woodland Park is being investigated by the U.S. Forest Service for a Job Corps camp under President Johnson's anti-poverty program.

The camp, if authorized by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity and approved by Gov. Love, would be built and operated under the $947.5 million anti-poverty bill signed Aug. 20 by the President with 72 give-away pens.

The Job Corps was allocated $190 million under the bill to place 40,000 young persons, ages 16 to 21, in rural conservation camps or training centers in cities. In addition to learning job skills and getting a basic education, the pay will be $50 a month.

The Forest Service has no assurance at this time as to when or if the site adjacent to Colorado Highway 67 between Woodland Park and Deckers will be selected. The Manitou Experimental Forest is just north of the site under consideration.

Woodland Park would be the closest town to the proposed

Academy School District Plans Bond Election

School District 20, Air Academy, will hold a bond election, the board decided unanimously Monday night. The election will be held as soon as legally possible. The date will be set later.

The vote will be on the maximum bonding capacity of the district at that time, not to exceed $1,000,000. The capacity at that time is expected to be between $700,000 and $1,000,000.

Four members attended the meeting, Chairman Mrs. Emily Bissell, Russ Wolfe, Burt Bittner and Dr. Wilton Cogswell. Fred Farrer was absent.

Money raised by the bond issue, if it is approved by the voters, will be used to build a new school programmed to handle about 700 children. All sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in the district would attend the new school.

Making the proposed new school, which at this time has no name, into a three-grade school would be a temporary assignment for the building until at least one more school building is erected later.

The new school would be lo-

Six - Year - Old Author Hailed For New Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Like most hopeful young authors, Dorothy Straight came to New York City for a party to celebrate the publication of her first book.

There was ice cream and cookies and soft drinks. Everybody wore paper hats. And the conversation was mostly about dolls, kindergarten, and the dollar that Dorothy got for the loss of her four front teeth.

Dorothy is six years old.

She made up the story and did the illustrations for her book, "How the World Began."

The illustrations, she said, took her "half a day, an evening and a morning."

Her mother, Mrs. Michael Straight, of Alexandria, Va., took down the story as Dorothy told it one night in answer to the question, "Who made the world?"

"We were amazed at the different concepts Dorothy put into the book," said her father, editor of the New Republic Magazine. "At the end of the story, she said, 'And then God went to sleep and slept for 40 whole days,' and she illustrated it with a picture of God in bed wearing yellow pajamas."

Dorothy's parents liked the book so much they took it to a publisher, who liked it so much he decided to publish it.

Writing down children's stories is a favorite sport in the Straight household, in which there are two boys, three girls, a pony and a dog.

"We began writing down the older children's stories when they were Dorothy's age to send to their grandmother in England," Mrs. Straight said. "Children at that age have such marvelous imaginations."

The Straights said they had not told Dorothy anything about the origin of the world. Her father thinks some of her ideas came from television, and some from a stage production of a Noah's Ark story.

Will success spoil Dorothy Straight?

Her father thinks not. "At the first sign of a swelled head, her brothers and sisters will see to it she gets back into line," he said.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

Washington, — It should gradually become apparent to students of American political history that President Johnson is going all-out in this campaign to get rid of the two-party system.

He has made it clear that he thinks there is room for all Americans, rich and poor, under the one big tent of his own party. In another analogy he has appealed to all who believe in national unity to sit with him at "one table."

Of course, the President cannot say flatly that he hopes to win so big in November that only one party will survive. Being that blunt could backfire.

While there is a tincture of facetiousness in this estimate of LBJ's "tent" or "table" party, what else is the President aiming for than one, big united-America party?

What, for example, is the deep-down significance of what he told those dissident Republican businessmen, including two former Ike cabinet members, who met here last week to work for his election?

This is what the President told that group: "I shall never seek to be a labor President or a business President or a President for liberals or a President for conservatives, a President for the North or a President for the South, but only President of all the people."

And consider what the President said in his Detroit Labor Day speech; "United we stand; divided we fall. So today I say to these thousands assembled here, whose only concern is what is best for their contry, let us bring the capitalist, the manager, the worker and the and the government to one table to share in the fruits of all of dreams and all of our work, and we enjoy for ourselves, the greatest country that any man has ever known."

LBJ Image Suited to Appeal to All

What should not be overlooked is that such a political attainment as the President aspires to would, if successful, pretty well eliminate the opposition party. In addition, it happens that Johnson's image is ideal for such a one - party attempt.

He has never allowed himself to be boxed in so that his political ideology as a Democrat would be clear. He spelled out his political philosophy in 1958 for a University of Texas publication and has sought to adhere consistently to it ever since.

"I am a free man, an American, a United States Senator, and a Democrat in that order," he said. "I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a consumer, a parent, a voter — and I am all those things in no fixed order."

Then his image, while vague, is uniquely well suited for his present appeal to all Americans irrespective of political affiliations, to rally around him in one big party.

The National Republican Congressional Committee has just released a form letter addressed to "Dear Fellow Republican" which reveals its frustration over LBJ's effort to decimate the GOP. It is a compliment, even if left handed, to Johnson's unusual brand of political sagacity.

Never Underestimate Johnson's Political Talent

"Very few people know what Lyndon Johnson really stands for," it starts out. "And from now till Election Day he'll be doing his best not to enlighten us.

"He will try to be all things to all men. Up North he will be accepting awards from the New York Liberal Party. Meanwhile, he will be meeting quietly with his Southern political cronies to assure them that the South 'has nothing to worry about' from Lyndon."

The committee then raised the question of whether LBJ can "get away with this political tightrope act?" It followed this with a reference to certain mysterious plans the Congressional Republicans have in mind to "make him stand up and be counted."

That Republican group would be smart not to underestimate Johnson's ability to sidestep all political pitfalls and remain "all things to all men."

Which reminds us of an apocryphal story told by LBJ during a partisan Senate debate on the budget in 1959.

"During the early days of the depression," the then Senator from Texas said, "a poor school teacher in search of a job applied to a hill country school board. The board was rather impressed by his presentation. He was eloquent, generally he was factual.

He Will Be a Tough One to Smoke Out

"So the members of the school board said to him: 'Well, we think we would like to have you teach, and we would like to retain your services. But tell us this: There is some difference of opinion in our community about geography, and we want to know which side you are on. Do you teach that the world is round, or do you teach that the world is flat?'

"The eloquent applicant responded immediately 'I can teach it either way.' "

A teacher like that would be a cinch to gravitate later into politics and go far, just as Lyndon did after a teaching spell in the public school of San Marcos, Tex., when Herbert Hoover was President.

How does the Republican Congressional committee think it can smoke Johnson out on issues any better than that school board on the issue of whether the world is round or flat?

Especially as the President's approach is just the same today as in 1958, when he told the University of Texas publication: "Some who equate personal philosophies with popular dogmas might inquire, endlessly, as to my 'position' on this issue or that issue or some other.

"Philosophies, as I conceive them at least, are not made of answers to issues, but of approaches more enduring and encompassing than that."

Johnson Is Reported Leading in California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Field California Poll claimed today that President Johnson leads Sen. Barry Goldwater 62 to 33 per cent in statewide voter preference for the presidency.

Marvin D. Field, director of the poll, said that was the result of a survey just completed in which 1,209 potential voters were interviewed around the state as of the first week in September. Field said five per cent questioned were undecided.

Johnson's present lead "is unprecedented in recent California history," Field said.

The only presidential campaign in which California survey results resemble those issued today, Field said, was in 1952 when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower held a 23 percentage-point lead over Adlai E. Stevenson.

Field said 25 per cent of Republican-registered voters "have crossed over to Johnson," while "Johnson received 90 per cent of Democrats' preference votes."

Congress Plans To Tackle Medicare Issue

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress tackles Social Security health care and legislative reapportionment this week as members up for re-election fidget to get on the campaign trail.

Neither issue is likely to be disposed of finally during the week and Congress' adjournment date still is up in the air.

The issue of health care for the aged is the only major legislative business before the House this week.

After preliminary parliamentary moves today, members are expected to vote Thursday whether to arrange a conference with the Senate, which added the hospitalization feature to a Social Security bill passed by the House.

There may also be a more substantive vote — on instructions to the conferees whether to accept or reject the hospitalization feature — but no final decision yet had been made.

The Senate votes Tuesday on a compromise designed to cool the hot dispute over the Supreme Court's ruling that states must apportion both houses of their legislatures by population.

The proposal would simply declare "the sense of Congress" to be that legislatures should be given a reasonable time to conform. It would replace a tougher proposal to require time to conform. It would replace a tougher proposal to require federal courts to grant delays up to two years.

President Johnson has asked his running mate, assistant Hubert H. Humphrey, to make Huert H. Humphrey, to make every effort to work out a compromise on the "sense of Congress" resolution.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has said that if the substitute fails, an even tougher proposal, passed by the House, will be offered — but not by him.

The House-approved measure would limit courts' jurisdiction in reapportionment cases.

John Fetler, Book Editor

Selected Letters of Robert Frost, edited by Lawrence Thompson (Holt, Rinehart and Winston $10): Frost never wrote an autobiography but this collection of letters comes close enough to self-revelation. Thompson, a professor of English at Princeton University, old friend and authorized biographer of Frost, made this selection of 566 letters from 1500 examined. It contains correspondence to 123 people and letters to Frost from friends and others, and presents a rounded picture of the poet's professional and personal life. Those who know Frost only through his tender, humorous and generally cheerful poetry may be surprised to learn from these letters that he was often gloomy, sulky and sometimes vindictive. Frost suffered from feelings of failure during most of his life, which probably accounted for his insatiable appetite for honor and applause when his late-arriving success assured both. Thompson now is working on a two-volume biography of Frost.

Biffen's Millions, by P. G. Wodehouse (Simon & Schuster $4.50): Wodehouse's 68th novel, brought out in his 62nd year of publishing, is as light and entertaining as any of its predecessors. It has most of the ingredients usually found in summer vacation literature: a Paris-London setting, a cast of handsome young characters, a mild mystery, an inheritance, the police, and a round of marriages at the end to show that all ends well. Biffen is the nickname of a young American newspaperman, adrift in Paris and penniless, who discovers he has inherited the millions of his American godfather, a man whose life he once saved. But to avoid being arrested until his 30th birthday — a matter of a few weeks. This might seem an easy qualification for most people, but Biff was prone to popping policemen on the nose while drunk, and prone to getting drunk. The plot thus revolves around the efforts of his friends to keep him dry and his enemies to get him wet and in trouble. There is a lot of pants-swiping and other comic action before the final scene of happy marriages, mirth, and millions.

Wild Lives of Africa, by Juliette Huxley (Harper & Row $5.95)? Lady Huxley accompanied her husband, Sir Julian Huxley, on a tour of south, east and central Africa on behalf of conservation possibilities of wild life there. She was so impressed with what she saw and learned that she was sure others would be too. So she wrote a book about the trip, the scenery, the plants and the people, but mostly about the animals. She has effectively captured the African scene in this absorbing account.

Girl from Fitchburg, by Bernardine Kielty Scherman (Random House $3.95): It was back in 1908 when Bernardine Kielty first came to New York from Fitchburg, Mass. Fresh from college she took a job in the big city and has been there ever since, working, bringing up her family, visiting with friends in the theater and publishing worlds and now in this book — reminiscing. Since she loves New York, has had a busy and fruitful life and remembers a great deal about it, her recollections are interesting and, of course, nostalgic. With considerable skill and warmth Mrs. Scherman recounts her memories of the days before World War I, then the madcap 20's, the depression-ridden 30's, and on to the present. But it is the backward glances at the earlier days that are most appealing and impart to the book much of its charm.

White Figure, White Ground, by Hugh Hood (Dutton $4.50): In this novel by a young Canadian writer are depicted the soul-searing choices that must be made by a successful painter, Alexander MacDonald, who reaches two crossroads in his life at once. He has to decide whether to continue the kind of painting which has made him rich or strike out into an unknown form of expression which could be ruinous. He also has to decide between his beautiful wife and his attractive young cousin. Hood has done a convincing job of showing an artist turning out a work of art which relates intimately to the act of bringing order to the chaos of his personal life.

Contemporary Quotations, compiled by James B. Simpson (Crowell $6.95): Here is a collection of remarks made between 1950 and 1964 by famous men and women engaged in a variety of professions and occupations. A sort of latter-day Bartlett's, the quotations range from the witty and facetious to the profound and are arranged under subject and source headings. Samples: "I always considered statesmen to be more expendable than soldiers". . . Harry Truman in a letter to his mother and sister a few weeks after becoming President. I'm for each and against none.". . . Dwight Eisenhower on potential 1964 Republican candidates. "I know that when things don't go well they like to blame the Presidents, and that is one of the things which Presidents are paid for.". . .John F. Kennedy at a presidential news conference in 1962. "I've been on a calendar, but never on time." . . .Marilyn Monroe. "Grumbling is the death of love.". . . Marlene Dietrich. "An atheist is a man who has no invisible means of support.". . .Fulton Sheen. A fine reference book as well as a stimulating guide to sharp verbiage.

Sudden Endings, by M. J. Meaker (Doubleday $4.95): A study of the lives of 13 famous persons, all of whom killed themselves. Miss Meaker indicates in short profiles of Ernest Hemingway, Marilyn Monroe, James Forrestal, Diana Barrymore and others the signposts in their lives that pointed to suicide. Her book makes for interesting though macabre speculation.

A Coffin for King Charles, by C. V. Wedgwood (Macmillan $5.95): It was raining in London when King Charles I was brought back to his capital for trial and execution, and this closeup history of the events is so skilfully told that the reader can almost hear the rain fall on the cobblestone streets. Miss Wedgwood does not take undue liberties in her re-creation of 17th century scenes — her narrative is well-documented by contemporary accounts, and she weighs each account and its author for prejudice and truthfulness. The story of the king's trial and execution is dramatic both on the national and personal level. These were important days for England's future, when a king was being punished for waging war on his people and when ideas of social equality were being developed in the ranks of Oliver Cromwell's army. But the strongest impression the book leaves is of the personal courage and tenacity of the king, who refused to recognize the authority of his judges, refused to make deals with his victors, and paid with his life. It is not a defense of the king; his arrogance and mistakes are clearly told. But the old records make plain that the trial was his finest hour.

To Set Before a Queen, by Alma McKee (Simon & Schuster $3.50): This little volume combines recipes and reminiscences about the author's service as a cook for two Queens, Elizabeth II and her mother. There are some interesting insights into the way the royal family lives — instead of keeping a set of kitchen utensils and equipment at Balmoral, the summer residence, the staff each year transfers equipment from Buckingham Palace. Then there is the matter of garlic in the royal food. Mrs. McKee said she was told never to use it when she began her service in 1951. One day she "forgot" and got compliments instead of complaints. She continued to use, but not overuse, garlic without detection. Mrs. McKee gives the recipes for the favorite dishes of the Queen, Prince Philip, and the other members of the family. The Queen likes crevettes a la Reine, which is shrimp with white wine. Her husband favors a pigeon casserole, and Prince Charles likes Frikadeller, the meat balls from Mrs. McKee's native Sweden.

The Stupidity Problem, by John Fischer (Harper & ½02 $4.95): "Who but an egghead can make an intercontinental missile?" asks one of the characters in this collection of Fischer's "Easy Chair" columns from Harper's Magazine. The question sets the theme of the book. Why is intellect so little regarded and supidity prized at a time when an increasingly complex society needs more brains and much less brawn? To solve this stupidity problem, Fischer says in the essay that gives the book it title, our educational system will have to be changed to push along talented students and let the others get along with what is left. It may be undemocratic, he concedes, but he argues that our society can no longer afford to coddle "slow learners" and "underachievers." Other columns range from Civil War yarns to tales of beatniks and archeologists. Entertaining and informative reading.

The Third Day, by Joseph Hayes (McGraw-Hill $4.95): There aren't many novel ways of telling a who-dunit. But Hayes, who scored previously with "The Desperate Hours" and the Joseph Cotten play, "Calculated Risk," has hit on one in "The Third Day." The hero finds himself on a rainy fall morning in front of New York's Hotel Plaza. Finds himself, literally, for although the Plaza's doorman seems to recognize him, he doesn't know who he is, himself. From this beginning in amnesia, the hero works himself back through a tortuous trek in psychology which uncovers a big business intrigue in his not-too-sheltered family circle, marital brinksmanship on the edge of divorce and a hushed-up scandal that turns out to be murder. With his device of putting his hero in the same position as his reader — that of not knowing anything about the plot until it evolves and reasoning it out chapter by chapter — Hays establishes that he is a superb story-teller and a master of the craft of literary construction.

Isaac Babel, the Lonely Years: 1925-1939, edited by Nathalie Babel (Farrar, Straus $6.75): This book should be of particular interest to students of Soviet literature. Isaac Babel is generally considered to be the heir of Chekhov and Turgenev as a Russian short story writer. His best-known work is "Red Cavalry" which raised him to prominence in the 1920's. Babel subsequently disappeared in the Stalinist purges in 1939 and little has been reported since about him as a person. Now, in this book edited by his daughter, we see what kind of a man Babel was and shaped his writing. The book is a collection of previously unpublished letters from Babel to his mother and sister — who lived abroad as did his wife and daughter — during a 14-year period. In them, he poured out his heart and inner thoughts. Also included are nine short stories hitherto unpublished in book form.

AGRIPPA'S DAUGHTER. By Howard Fast. Doubleday. $4.95.

The author of "Spartacus," among many other novels, has produced here in a story about Queen Berenice, who was a great-granddaughter of King Herod the Great. She was a red-haired beauty with a fatal affinity for trouble and intrigue.

Her first, teen-age, betrothal ended with the untimely death of the wealthy scion she was to have married in Alexandria. Her first marriage, arranged by her scheming father, was with her uncle, a union marked by her own frigid disdain and the early deaths of their two children.

She spent a few years propping up her younger brother as a small Galilean king under the sufferance of the Roman procurators, and then found her first real romance in a marriage with the physician Shimeon, of the peace-loving house of Hillel.

What might have continued to be a queenly story then bogs down in a mess of politics, polemics and obsessions over heredity, as the Jewish factions kill each other off in the civil strife of besieged Jerusalem. Her final, fading flirtation is with a younger man, the emperor's son Titus.

The whole story is saturated with local color and doctrinal obscurities. For those with a fancy for the fictional antique, it doubtless has its attractions.

Long and Short Hair Styles Win In British Strike

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Both the longs and the shorts claimed victories today as the battle of men's hair styles raged on in Britain.

In Durham, 30 long-haired apprentices won a strike against orders to wear hairnets.

A College principal in Peterborough caught a girl coming out of the men's room, reprimanded her and discovered she was a long-haired male.

The long-haired cult started with the Beatles but has grown more spectacular with the rise of a pop group called the Rolling Stones. By comparison with them, the Beatles look trim.

John McIntyre, the deceived college principal, ordered all students to keep their hair short.

"Some of these people have to be seen to be believed," he said.

"We had one with what I believe is called a 'gonk' cut. His ears were invisible and you could just see his eyes and nose peeping out from under shoulder-length hair."

McIntyre said he had told a dozen applicants to get a trim or they couldn't get into his college. He said all complied.

The engineering apprentices struck in Durham after Robert Rowell, 18, was ordered to get a haircut or wear a hairnet.

The strikers' spokesman, Cecil Hulme, 22, said: "We insisted on Robert being allowed back at work without a haircut.

The strike ended when Rowell was allowed back to work so long as he wears a cap.

Beach Facilities Undermined in Dixie

JEKYLL ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Most of the state's beach facilities here are in danger of being undermined as a result of the pounding they received from Hurricane Dora.

The state's multimillion-dollar Aquarama, resting above the beach with only a few feet of sand separating it from the breakers, is in a precarious position. The sea has moved in over a recently built rock barrier.

Less than eight per cent of the total land surface of the globe is cultivated.

A graduate of the Naval Academy, class of '36, Capt. Mann began his Navy career aboard the cruiser Astoria. After two years of sea duty, he was accepted for flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

In June 1939 he received his "Navy wings of gold" and joined Scouting Squadron II aboard the carrier Lexington. He was aboard the Lexington as a member of Air Group Two, when the ship was lost in the battle of the Coral Sea. Following the sinking of the Lexington, he commanded Scouting Squadron Eleven and took part in the Solomon Islands campaign.

Returning to "states - side" duty in the summer of '43, he served as a flight training instructor and as a staff officer. In March 1945, Capt. Mann became the assistant air officer aboard the newly commissioned aircraft carrier, Franklin D. Roossevelt.

He was a student and a member of the staff at the Naval War College, Newport, R.I., and was selected to attend the first special weapons course at Sandia, N.M. Capt. Mann was instrumental in establishing the special weapons course at the Naval War College.

In July 1952, Capt. Mann was aboard the aircraft carrier Kearsarge on the ship's first cruise to Korean waters. On becoming the carrier's executive officer he made her second cruise to the Far East. At the end of hostilities he was ordered to Hawaii where he served as the chief staff officer for the Naval Air Bases of the 14th Naval District, and later served as the chief of staff to Commander Fleet Air, Hawaii.

In June 1955, he became head of the Navy's National Policy Branch of the Strategic Plans Division. Three years later he was again at sea . . . this time as commanding officer of the ammunition ship Firedrake.

Capt. Mann is married to the former Mildred Gilliland of Roanoke, Ala. They have two daughters, Sara Dobbs, recently married to Thomas P. Nugent of Orange Park, Md.; and Martha Lee, who is married to Navy Lt. (j.g.) Richard S. Moore of Alexandria, Va.

The new Naval Forces commander was born in Roanoke, Ala., in November 1912. He is the son of Mr. William J. and Ada Stephenson Mann.

Two Policemen Will Attend Crime School

Two area police officers have been awarded stipends by the South Central Colorado Law Enforcement Officers Association to attend the 16th Annual Boulder Police Department Crime School this week, it has been announced by John Calhoun, of Canon City, president of the organization.

The officers are Eugene Cater of the Canon City department, and Max Martinez of the Florence department. The men will study new and improved methods of crime detection and legislation that relates to the policeman's role in law enforcement.

The group's board of directors selected Cater and Martinez and presented each man with a $50 check to pay for his expenses.

Tuesday at 7 p.m., the organization will meet in Buena Vista for its regular bi-monthly dinner meeting. About 20 members are expected. Fremont County Sheriff Tom Coleman will show slides of bobcats he has trailed and captured.

camp. Its mayor, Faunt D. LeRoy, said he had heard nothing of the investigation.

In addition to the possible camp site in Pike National Forest, the Forest Service is investigating other areas in National Forests in Wyoming, South Dakota, other areas of Colorado and other states.

Job Corps programs will include improvements in National Forests. Their goal is to build character and improve job qualifications of the youths enrolled.

"Benefits will be gained by the local economy in each camp area through National Forest improvements that may attract more tourists, improve rangeland and woodland, and reduce fire perils, as well as the local purchase of supplies," according to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

He added that Job Corps camps "will help make sure that more young persons get a decent break and a fair chance to make good.

"They will be of enormous value in bringing new opportunity to many rural and urban youngsters.

"In addition the camps will enrich all Americans as they improve the 186 million acres of National Forest Lands which every person can use and enjoy."

Youths enrolled in Job Corps camps will be carefully screened to insure that delinquents or other emotionally or morally deficient persons are excluded, said Freeman.

The agriculture secretary pointed out that local areas can help to make the camps effective by welcoming the youth into the community.

reservations manifested by both sides on individual points," a Vatican announcement said.

"The two sides have declared themselves disposed to continue also in the future the exchange of views with the aim of possibly reaching wider agreements."

The accord was only partial, but it was a major step forward in relations between the Roman Catholic Church and Hungary. It could effect relations between the Church and other Communist lands, and between Washington and Budapest.

Three Theft Cases Reported to Sheriff

Three cases of theft were reported to the sheriff's office Monday.

Charles Towner of Towner's Used Car Lot, 2021 E. Platte Ave. said that a tachometer was stolen from a 1962 car on his lot.

Glending H. Huling, Scott Depot, W. V., reported to Deputy Sheriff David Sturgeon that her billfold containing $25 and $200 in travelers checks and a purse belonging to a friend which had $15 in it, had been taken from her car.

She said the vehicle was parked in the Garden of the Gods and that she and her companion were only away from it for a few minutes.

The last case was reported by Charles Adams, 23, 2438 E. Platte Ave. who said a $50 tachometer had been removed from a dump truck on his lot at 2438 E. Platte Ave.

Cash, Pistol, Flag Taken in Burglaries

Three burglaries were reported to the sheriff's office Monday.

Arman Palomba of Palomba's 66 Service Station, 995 N. Circle Dr., said someone had broken into the station and stolen $116.09 in cash, two checks and a .22 calibre pistol. The money was in the cash register.

The World Arena at the Broadmoor was also broken into and an American Flag taken. Damage to the window which had been forced amounted to $50, Broadmoor Police Officer Floyd Miller said.

The third burglary happened at the Harbor Inn, 6701 N. Nevada. The premises had been entered but nothing appeared to be missing, Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien said. Damage to a screen door and back door was $50.

Coloradan Wins CC President's Scholastic Prize

The prize, a check for $25 for books, is given each year by the president of Colorado College to the student making the greatest progress from the first semester to the end of the sophomore year.

Richards, an economics major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richards of Julesburg.

Infant Found Dead In Crib by Mother

A seven-week old baby, Ronald Carl Absetz, 59 Otowi Dr., was found dead in his crib by his mother, Brenda E. Absetz, the sheriff's office reported this morning.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Orvis said the child had been sick Sunday and on Monday he started to turn pale and would not eat much.

Mrs. Absetz told the officer that on Monday night she gave the child a bottle, then placed him on his stomach in his crub. When she checked on him 15 minutes later she could not feel any heart beat.

Fire Companies Called to Local Hotel

Company 1, the Aerial, and Companies 2 and 4 of the Fire Department converged at the Stratton Hotel, Pikes Peak and Nevada Avenues, when a fire alarm was turned in at 1:15 a.m. today. A couch was on fire in a room occupied by Paul Kelly, caused by a cigarette that had fallen between the cushions. Capt. Ralph Nice was in charge of the firemen.

The firemen carried the couch out of the building and extinguished the fire. There was possible smoke damage in the room where the fire occurred. The smoke did not get into other parts of the hotel. The Stratton Hotel is owned by Mrs. Jack DeBoer, 1813 N. Cascade Ave.

A dust mop on fire at the residence of Ruth Collins, 1007 W. Pikes Peak Ave., caused a fire alarm at 4:44 p.m. Monday. Firemen of Company 3 responded and carried out the mop. The fire was reported by the fire department as caused by a spark or a cigarette. There was no damage to the house.

Services Thursday For Elmer Andrews

Elmer Andrews, of 2214 Hagerman St., retired rancher, died Saturday at a local hospital. He was 81 and had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1936. He was previously in business in Florence, Colo., and ranched in Wolback, Nebr.; LeRoy, Kan.; Boone County, Nebr., and Greeley County, Nebr., before coming to Colorado Springs.

Mr. Andrews was born in Wolback, Nebr., Dec. 27, 1882. He is survived by three sons, Merrill Andrews, Albion, Nebr.; Ivan Andrews, Richmond, Calif., and Everett Andrews, Colorado Springs; a daughter, Olive Michael, Spokane, Wash.; a sister, Estellae Delay, Plainsville, O., nine grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3 P.M. Thursday at Our Chapel of Memories. The Rev. Marvin L. Stuard and the Rev. John Doll will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery. Pallbearers will be: Floyd Miller, Robert Miller, William Miller and Charles Miller.

cated on a 22-acre tract south of Burgess Road and a little more than one mile east of the access road. The location puts it just about exactly south across the road from the entrance to the Reverse Diamond J. Ranch.

The site was donated to the district by the Cimarron Development company which plans a housing development in that area.

Supt. Howard Dunning reported to the board that the district at this time is about at or over capacity for its buildings with 31 classrooms in which more than 30 students attend class at one time.

In other action, the board:

— Gave Dunning permission to proceed with getting bids for the purchase of a new pickup truck. The truck will have an eight cylinder engine.

— Gave Sgt. and Mrs. William A. Stokes, who live in Black Forest, permission to have their daughter transferred from the Black Forest Grade School to the Pine Valley Grade School. Mrs. Stokes teaches in the district on the Academy and the sergeant is stationed there. The girl, a fifth grader, is scheduled for serious oral surgery and the Stokes couple explained that it would be more convenient for them if she could attend an Academy - located school during the year that the surgery is being done.

— Approved purchase of a new school bus from the Wayne Bus Company for $6,044. It would be a 60-passenger, eight-cylinder (Chevrolet) bus. Wolfe moved for the approval, and Cogswell seconded the motion. The other bid reported by Dunning was for $6,300. The vote to buy was unanimous.

— Voted tentatively to accept the offer of the Imhoff Company to act as fiscal agent for the project bond issue that will have to be taken care of in the voters approve the plan.

The Imhoff Company submitted a low bid of $2.114 per $1,000 of bond issue. The firm was lowest of 13 bidders.

— Heard a report from Col. Chris Munch, liaison officer for the Air Force Academy to the school board, explaining the flight pattern of the landing strip on the Academy. He said the pattern would keep light planes about one mile west of the proposed new school, and the pattern for larger planes would take the pattern about one-half mile east of the school.

— Heard a report from Col. Munch explaining that the Academy has no plans to ask that all cars diven by school students have Academy stickers on the bumpers.

— Approved contracts for two more new teachers.

A— Approved a request by Bob Jones, Academy youth director, to use the playgrounds on the Douglass Valley and Pine Valley Schools again next summer.

The grounds were used this summer. Dunning told the board, "It is a good plan. His program was a dandy." After that report, the board promptly voted to allow the grounds to be used again.

Footprinters Give Scholarship to Chipita Woman

For the first time in its history, the International Footprint Association has awarded the law - enforcement studies scholarship to a woman, Sandra Isele of Chipita Park.

Every year, each chapter of the IFA awards the scholarship to a high school graduate interested in studying law enforcement. This year the presentation of the award given by the Colorado Springs Dad Bruce chapter of the IFA was made by Frank J. Smith, the IFA international president.

Miss Isele, a 1964 graduate of Manitou Springs High School, will study at Trinidad State Junior College, one of the four colleges in the nation offering a specialized course in law enforcement. There will be only one other woman besides Miss Isele taking the course at the college.

In addition to making this scholarship presentation, IFA Grand President Smith will mak official visits to the Foot printers chapters in Denver, Pueblo, Canon City, Cheyenne, Casper, Des Moines and Omaha.

Wrongful Death Suit Vacated by Agreement

A $25,000 wrongful death suit which started in District Court Thursday was vacated Monday by agreement of counsels on both sides.

The suit has been brought by Eldon W. Hobbs, Freemont, Calif. and Mrs. Hazel Weatherly, Clifton, Colo. against Jerry Alan Donley, administrator for the estate of the late Thomas Andrew Murphy and Adabel Murphy, Simla.

According to the complaint Dean Milton Hobbs, 16, died in a traffic accident Oct. 14, 1963 due to the negligence of Murphy. It is alleged that the boy was a passenger in a car driven by Murphy and owned by Adabel Murphy which was involved in a head-on collision on U.S. Highway 24 in Elbert County.

Denver Youth Injured In Accident Monday

Dennis A. Cowen, 18, Denver, received an abrasion to the head and left hand Monday when the car he was driving ran off State Route 1 Bypass two miles south of the city, State Patrol reported.

Cowen stated that he was going north and went to sleep at the wheel. The car left the road knocking down a guard post, traveled next to the road striking a metal fence post, then struck a guard post on the shoulder of the road, Patrolman Nathan Boals reported.

Yvonne De Carlo Is Finding Out About Vampires

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How does an actress play a television vampire in Donna Reed style? Yvonne de Carlo is finding out.

Yvonne is one of television's two ghoulfriends for the coming season. The other is Carolyn Jones, the monster's matriarch of "The Addams Family."

The role of Lily in "The Munsters" has befallen Yvonne — the character so named because she sleeps with arms folded coffin-style, a lily on her chest.

"I had misgivings when I was told about the role," said Yvonne, who's noted for her glamor roles. "After all, I didn't want to destroy whatever image I had established. So I asked the makeup man what the makeup was supposed to be.

"He told me the character would have a green face, hollow cheeks, etc. Then I became more worried. But I decided to try the test, figuring I would also be testing the role to see if I wanted to do it.

"But when I appeared for the test, I found out I was one of nine girls testing, and we had to sign options that we would accept the role. Now I really was worried. I decided all I could do was put my trust in my agent, and he wanted me to do it."

She was perplexed about how to play a vampire — she had escaped the horror epics during her decade at Universal.

"They told me to play her just like Donna Reed," said Yvonne. "That sounded strange to me until I tried it. Now it works. She acts just like any housewife. The difference is in her approach to things, as when she tells her little child to go to bed, " 'And don't forget to close your lid'." The makeup turned out to her satisfaction. She wears floor-length black hair — gray-streaked with a widow's peak, of course. Her complexion is a faint green, but it shows up as dead white on the screen. She was pleased when some young visitors to the set commented how glamorous she looked.

"I dn't think the series will type me with the older audience," she said. "There are enough of them who remember me from my pictures or who see them on the late late show."

The greatest number of the 3,370 property-liability insurance companies in the U.S. have their home offices in Illinois. There are 341 headquartered there, followed by 286 in New York and 275 in Pennsylvania.

Coming September 23_three different new Ramblers
THE SENSIBLE SPECTACULARS
65's most sweeping changes_in size_in style_in power

We can tell you this about the new automobiles coming to market for 1965:

No other new cars will be more dramatically changed, or better attuned to the new motoring age, than the '65 Ramblers.

They are changed to meet today's changing tastes, changing traffic, changing turnpike demands, changing car uses.

To meet the challenge of these changes, we designed three different kinds of Ramblers, in three different sizes, on three different wheelbases, in three different price ranges.

We powered these Ramblers with seven spectacular engines, Sixes and V-8s, including Torque Command, world's most advanced engine. Boosts both power and economy.

We put new brawn and heft into these Ramblers, new space inside, yet kept the famed easy handling, parking, maneuverability.

We added new features to the long list of extra-value features you get at no extra cost—added new sportiness and action—added new glamor models, including dazzling new convertibles in Ambassador and Classic

These new 1965 Ramblers you will see next week are Ramblers through and through—the most sensible Ramblers we have ever built.

But they are also the most spectacular Ramblers in history—spectacular in looks, size, beauty, performance.

Thus, they named themselves. They are The Sensible Spectaculars. No other words describe them better, more honestly.

When you see the new Ramblers on Wednesday, September 23—sit in them, drive them—you will understand the honesty of the name—The Sensible Spectaculars.

We invite you to see the 1965 Ramblers yourself—at your Rambler dealer, next week.

Toastmistress Clubs to Dine at Chicken Shack

Pikes Peak Toastmistress Club will act as hostess for the Colorado Springs Toastmistress Clubs at a meeting to be held at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, at Dott's Chicken Shack. Husbands of members are welcome as well as any woman interested in Toastmistress.

Toastmistress for the evening will be Lyda Johnson. Featured speakers will be Maj., John Keeler of the Air Force Academy, Robert Dunlap, vice chairman of the El Paso County Young Republicans and L. S. "Red" Quaney, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner.

District CNA Meeting to Be Held at Academy

Pikes Peak District 3, Colorado Nurses Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the U. S. Air Force Academy.

The program will include two films: "Training of the Falcons," and "Robert Cummings Visit to the Academy."

Mrs. Mona Weaver and Mrs. Joan Sheverbush will report on the American Nurses Association convention held in Atlantic City. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Contributions of gold bond stamps are being solicited to help the Association obtain a portable lecturnette with loud speaker system. Stamps or validated book covers should be sent to the nursing offices at either Memorial or Penrose Hospital.

Count on having 4 cups of cooked cornmeal when you prepare 1 cup of the raw cereal.

Delta Zeta Alums Are Guests of Mrs. Dorsey

The Delta Zeta Alumnae Club will entertain members new to the Colorado Springs area at a get-acquainted coffee Saturday, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. William L. Dorsey, 1650 Mesa Ave., Broadmoor. Mrs Helen Randall will be co-hostess.

Attending the coffee will be Mrs. Ray Ryerson who, with her husband, has returned from a tour of the Hawaiian Islands. The trip was awarded to the Ryersons as a token of appreciation for Mr. Ryerson's 20 years of service as Scout executive for the Pikes Peak Council.

On Kauai, the Ryersons stayed at the Kauai Surf, and visited the Frank Rays, former Colorado Springs residents. The greater part of their time was spent on the island of Oahu, visiting Scouting camps.

Delta Zetas desiring information or reservations may contact Mrs. Dorsey at 635-2914.

Allspice is sold in whole as well as in ground form. The whole berries may be used along with cloves and peppercorns in making meat or poultry broths.

Broadmoor Garden Club Members Tour Water Shed

Members of the Broadmoor Garden Club were guests of the Colorado Springs Water Department for a tour of the Colorado Springs Water Shed on Friday, Sept. 11.

Accompanying the members were Jack McCullough, Superintendent of the Water Division and Ed Bailey. After briefly outlining the development of the water supply, Mr. Bailey and Mr. McCullough discussed in detail the nature of the problems of the provision of water for an expanding community and the various programs and obligations the City must develop and meet.

The group assembled in Manitou and spent the morning touring four of the reservoirs on the south slope of Pikes Peak and in the afternoon toured North and South Catamount and Crystal Dam on the North slope.

Among those present were Mrs. Hugh H. C. Weed, Mrs. Fred Wolf, Mrs. John F. Gallagher Jr., Mrs. John F. Gallagher Sr., Mrs. James Johnson, Mrs. Edward Thomas, Mrs. Morris Esmiol, Mrs. Stuart P. Dodge, Mrs. Eugene Lilly, Mrs. John R. Puffer, Mrs. George Thatcher, Mrs. Hilliard Miller, Mrs. Marshall Sprague, Miss Helen Eyre, Mrs. Charles Tutt, Mrs. Harold Gile, Mrs. Harrie Hart, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. E. E. Corbin, Mrs. Philip Cole, Mrs. Aidan Mullett, Mrs. Platt Rogers, Mrs. Frederic Shaw and Mrs. Francis M. Froelicher.

Special guest was Mrs. Jim Manley who informed the group which troup of Girl Scouts is to be sponsored and duties of the club.

Election was held and the following elected: president, Mrs. Tom Bowen; vice president, Mrs. Mike Baugh; secretary, Mrs. Daryl Yorke; treasurer, Mrs. Dennis Rekeh; director, Mrs. Gabriel Lopez.

By-laws were presented to the group and voted in. Installation banquet will be in October and all plans will be given to members as soon as they are definite.

A special family picnic will be held Sunday at Fountain Park, for all active wives and their families.

The next meeting on Oct, 14, will be at the home of Mrs. Tom Bowen with Mrs. Dennis Rokeh as co-hostess.

VFW Auxiliary Gives Picnic for Ft. Lyon Patients

At the latest meeting of the ladies auxiliary to Lt. Marion L. Willis Post 101, Veterans of Foreign Wars, members heard the report of the annual cook-out for patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Ft. Lyon.

Mrs. Goldie Whitmore, auxiliary hospital chairman and department chairman for Ft. Carson Hospital, reported that the picnic was held Aug. 31, in the City Park at LaJunta, where 25 patients were transported by bus from Ft. Lyon. Accompanying the patients were a nurse, Mrs. Inez Mirabel, and recreation specialist Warren Taylor.

Steaks and punch were furnished by the Hospital and the balance of the supper was provided by members of the local Auxiliary.

Accompanying and assisting Mrs. Whitmore were the president, Mrs. Ethel Breeden; senior vice president, Mrs. Willa Brown; junior vice president, Mrs. Lavon Stanley; treasurer, Mrs. Ferne M. Price; Mrs. Leah Jane Zink, Mrs. Pauline Peabody, Mrs. Azella Steigner, Mrs. Elsie Schnackenberg, Mrs. Frances Blackhall and her daughter, Cathy, and two sons, Frank and George.

Jumbled Cookies

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Drop cookies now take on a multiple personality. Just for the fun of it, try combining applesauce, semi-sweet chocolate morsels and butterscotch morsels with the raisins and nuts generally used in jumbles.

Applesauce Jumbles
(4 dozen)

Preheat over to 375 degrees.
Sift together and set aside
2½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cloves
Combine and beat till creamy
1 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
Beat in, one at a time,
3 eggs
Continue beating till light. Stir in Flour mixture
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate mor-morsels
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels
1 cup raisins
¾ cup applesauce
½ cup chopped nuts

Drop by tablespoonfuls on a greased and floured cookie sheet. Bake 12 minutes in preheated 375-degree oven.

Hobo Cookout Staged by Camp Fire Girls

Members of the Ta Mi Ka Kee Camp Fire Girls recently enjoyed a hobo cookout. Each girl made her own stew pan from a coffee can and a hanger, and then cooked her own hobo stew.

The members are working on requirements for Fagot Finder, first in the progression of three honors for skill in outdoor living. They played several compass games with compasses presented to them by Jim Martin, sales representative of the Denver Chicago Trucking Co. Other activities for the outdoor honor include making knot boards and whittling such items as forks, stirring paddles and clothespins.

Present for the cookout were Lois Becker, Sherree Blair, Bridget Cannon, Barbara Holcomb, Heidi Murray, Linda Porter, Deborah Pritza, Nancy Stucky and Karen Vandeventer, who represent Edison, Taylor, Stratton and Corpus Christi Schools. Guests were Patti Blair and Doris Holcomb of the No-Ka-A-Tan Junior Hi Camp Fire Girls.

Mrs. Darold Holcomb is guardian of the Ta Mi Ka Wee group which is affiliated with the Pikes Peak Area Council of Camp Fire Girls, United Fund Agency.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D..Ph.D

John Sharknis is an unusually alert high school student as indicated by his comments below. So scrapbook this case and let all your teen-agers read it, for many of them are omitting the one course in high school that pays the richest dividends in later life.

By George W. Crane,
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE T-473: John Sharknis, aged 16, is an enterprising high school student at New Kensington, Pennsylvania.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "what is your opinion of Latin as a high school subject?

"I am seeking the views of leaders in various fields, as a project in our Latin class.

"Since I read your column in our DAILY DISPATCH, I'd like your opinion, too."

When I was a student at Central High School at Fort Wayne, Indiana, I took four years of Latin.

Then I also had one more year at Northwestern University to qualify for my A.B. degree.

But that much Latin is unnecessary for the average student, for one year offers its major advantages.

From my fairly wide experience with schools and colleges, I would say that one year of Latin is the most important inclusion in the entire high school cirriculum!

For one year of Latin offers more permanent dividends than one year of history or math or science. Why?

Because Latin is the very BEST groundwork for gaining a big vocabulary in English and a superb undertanding of grammar.

Remember, the ability to speak and write good English is the cardinal virtue of high school training!

All future educational advancement in America depends chiefly on your ability to communicate. And communication in this country means English!

The root meanings of thousands of our English words are Latin.

Latin also undergirds all the romance languages, such as Spanish, Italian, French, etc.

But that first year of Lation also gives students a superb understanding of the science of grammar, including prepositions, adjectives, adverbs, etc.

In my generation we Latin students knew more about English grammar than the students who skipped Latin but took the required courses in English!

And the dullards today who can't write or speak correct English are usually the students who omitted Latin!

College professors are bemoaning the fact that modern college freshman can't spell, punctuate or employ rudimentary correct grammar!

If they had passed a course in Latin for even one year, they would not be so inept at wielding English prose.

In fact, I'd wager that if you compared all the Latin students in high school with those who avoided Latin, then the scholastic averages would be higher for the Latin group.

And I refer not only to their grades in English but to their entire four-year averages.

Furthermore, I am also sure that the Latin students would furnish a much higher percentage of college graduates, too.

So by all means take at least one year of Latin!

The only other course that might pay as rich dividends would be "Applied Psychology," but most high schools don't include that vital course as yet.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

1 ♡	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
4 ◇	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♣	Pass	5 ◇	Pass
6 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

South landed an optimistic six heart contract when he induced a somewhat naive opponent to accept a "Greek gift" that was offered to him.

North's jump raise to three hearts was eminently sound; however, he should have signed off on the next round by merely returning to four hearts inasmuch as he has the minimum 13 points required for his response. When North showed the diamond support as well as the spade ace, South could hardly be blamed for bidding the slam.

Although a club opening would have greatly facilitated the defensive chores, West made the more natural lead of the spade king and North's ace won the trick. Declarer observed that he had not been blessed with an abundance of assets, and that a very favorable division in diamonds would be required to land his slam.

He tested the trump suit first by leading to the ace of hearts and then back to dummy's king, as all hands followed. The diamond queen was put through next for a finesse in that suit. East's decision to cover with the king was questionable even though he was assured of ultimately winning a trick in the suit with the ten, inasmuch as he can just as conveniently play the king on the next round if declarer continues with the jack.

South was in his hand with the ace of diamonds and he led back the suit—purposely refraining from drawing the last trump. He had little to lose by this maneuver for, if the diamonds do not divide evenly, the slam cannot be made. West, apparently under the assumption that his opponent had miscounted the hearts, hastened to ruff in with the ten of trumps. His satisfaction in scoring a heart trick that could have been denied him was short lived, for South promptly claimed the rest of the tricks. East's ten of diamonds must succumb to the jack on the next round, and declarer ultimately discards North's losing club on his long diamond and ruffs out dummy's spades with his two remaining trumps.

Had West discarded on the second diamond, declarer would have fallen short of his goal, for a diamond trick must still be conceded to East and, when South ultimately draws the last trump, he has only one heart left in his hand and is therefore able to ruff out only one of North's spades. A spade trick must be surrendered at the end.

SWISS BECOME SAILORS

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Thirty-two ships with a total of 165,595 tonnage fly the Swiss flag, sail the Seven Seas, and are registered with the Swiss Shipping office. The ships are variously owned by 13 Swiss companies, and the oldest was built in 1947.

The Swiss high seas fleet was created during World War II to ensure national supplies. Since there were very few sailors of Swiss nationality, original crews were recruited from nation's of neutral or non-belligerent nations. To give young Swiss an opportunity to learn seamanship, two or three were posted in each ship. Today, 605 of the 988 persons in the crews of today's Swiss ships are natives.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Aquarium owners . . . the good news is your famous nylon net. It can be used harmlessly instead of glass wool, etc., in the pump on top of the charcoal. It can be washed out when dirty when worn out . . . and wear out it might, but slowly.

This nylon net saves a few pennies and is very nice to handle. I have green nylon net in my aquarium to match my plants and it somewhat camoflages the whole pump outfit!

Also, a small piece of your nylon net is superb for cleaning the inside walls of any aquarium! It leaves no scratches on the glass and cleans all algae and particles in the aquarium and leaves the glass crystal clear. —Fish Breeder

Dear Heloise:

We thought you might be interested in our group. We are young mothers, or mothers-to-be, who have been meeting for about six months now. Our ages are between 19 and 25, and the babies vary from seven weeks to 10 months. We meet once a week, rotating the hostess duties each time, and trade recipes, cooking and cleaning tips, house plants, and general household hints.

By sharing our personal experiences in child raising and housekeeping, we always find ways to help one another become better mothers and housekeepers.

We hope that gals in other towns will start a group such as ours and reap the many benefits from learning together as we are doing. —Young Mothers

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

In regard to the question from a woman in a recent column of yours pertaining to why aluminum utensils warp . . .

Just for a smile I add my cousin's standard comment in such matters: "When everything else fails, read the instructions." —Harold M. Robinson

Dear Heloise:

We just bought a new television set. Now the problem is what to do with the old set. It is still in good condition except for the working parts. It is a blond upright model with swivel base.

What I want to know is what can we make out of the cabinet? It is too good just to haul away to the dump.

Do any of your readers have any ideas? —One of your fans.

Anyone have any bright ideas? If so, write to me in care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed to appear in this column. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I bake or roast a stuffed bird, I always make "extra" stuffing, put it in foil loaf-type pans, and set them in the pan beside the bird.

These pans not only help balance the bird, but the extra stuffing tastes like the rest when used later. It is not dry and tasteless as when baked in a separate casserole.

I use my largest roasting pan, and it works real well. —Phyllis Fauble

Dear Heloise:

When I buy any washable articles, I always save the little tags with the washing instructions. I write on the tag what the article is, such as "Beige Curtains," or "Black Evening Dress".

I put these instructions in a recipe file box and when I am ready to wash these special fabrics, I check with my file. This way, I always have the right washing instructions on hand. It also helps to have a stain chart filed on the back of the file box. Eliminates all guess work. —Nancy A.

Dear Heloise:

Other women have written in giving their hints for filling in the space between the stove and the sink to keep things from falling between them, but I think I like my way the best . . .

I use masking tape about one and one fourth inches wide, and cover the space between my stove and counter.

Maybe they would like to try my idea. —Mrs. Gertrude Glass

Cardinal McIntyre's Condition Is Better

ROME (AP) — The condition of James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, Roman Catholic archbishop of Los Angeles, was described as "slightly better" today.

The 78-year-old cardinal collapsed Monday during ceremonies opening the third session Council in St. Peter's.

Aides said he was over-tired from his trip from Los Angeles and suffered from the heat in the basilica.

Squeeze Play!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago my sister told me that my husband never missed a chance to hug and squeeze a certain woman we both know. I asked my husband about this and he denied it. My sister has a habit of making a lot of nothing, so I let the matter drop. I had really forgotten all about it until I saw this woman at our church picnic. My husband did not know I was watching him and he came up behind this woman, placed both his hands on her bare arms and gave her a squeeze. She didn't seem surprised or angry, either. Since then I told my husband not to speak to me. I'd go to this woman's husband and tell him about it, but he's very jealous and might hurt my husband. Am I making something out of nothing, or do you think I have a problem? I've had men try stuff like that with me, but I've always given them such a dirty look they never tried it again. I'd appreciate your advice. — TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Start talking to your husband and ask him to forgive your childish behavior. Your sister is a troublemaker. Avoid her. The woman probably knew your husband's "squeeze" was nothing more than an affectionate, innocent gesture. Grow up and thaw out or you'll create more problems than can be solved in one letter.

DEAR ABBY: I am blonde, five feet, three inches tall, weigh 110 pounds and have a fairly good shape. I live in a nice apartment which is beautifully furnished with my own things; in fact, I decorated it myself. I make a good living, do all kinds of art work as a hobby and have even sold some of my oil paintings. I can put on wallpaper as good as any professional, also paint, lay tile and even repair my own car. I am my own cook, housekeeper and I make my own clothes. When I go out there isn't a dance I can't do. Do you think I need a man? — MISS INDEPENDENT.

DEAR MISS: Obviously you do, or the question would never have occurred to you.

DEAR ABBY: I still love this boy I went steady with. We broke up about two months ago. I have tried everything to forget him, but it is no use because I loved him too much from the start. I have called him up and all my girl friends have called him up, too, trying to get him to go back with me. They all say we are perfect for each other. He always says he has something important to do. How can I get him back? — STILL CARES

DEAR STILL: If you want to get this boy back, your technique could hardly be worse. You have probably wrecked your chances by now so you have nothing to lose by ignoring him entirely, which is what you should have done in the first place.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine and I were looking over some magazines in a drug store. I am 14 and so is he. When we found two we wanted, we put our money down. he owner looked at the magazines and then he gave us a big lecture on how unsuitable the magazines were for decent people. He said they were nothing but trash and he wouldn't want any son of his reading them. He made us feel so cheap we didn't buy them. We want to ask you, Abby, if those magazines were nothing but "trash" and "unsuitable for decent people," what were they doing in his store in the first place? — GOOD QUESTION

DEAR GOOD: The question is better than "good." It's excellent. Why don't you go back and ask him?

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised at your answer disagreeing with the young couple "WILLING TO WAIT," who preferred buying their furniture as they could afford it, instead of using a lot of cast-off junk from their relatives' attics. They should have been commended for their attitude in this day when young couples buy everything on credit.

When my husband and I were married, we moved into an empty apartment with two suitcases. We slept on the floor until we could afford a bed. When so-called well-meaning relatives offered us odd pieces of old furniture, we politely refused. We enjoy our love nest all the more because we built it stick by stick together. Yours truly, — GLAD WE WAITED

DEAR GLAD: I don't know how long you and your husband slept on the floor, but if you were offered a bed and turned it down, it's nothing to brag about. I agree, young marrieds shouldn't go into debt in order to have everything immediately. But to refuse furniture because it is "old" is snobbish and impractical. Some "odd pieces" and cast - off "junk" have been transformed into handsome and useful furniture with a bit of sandpaper, paint and ingenuity.

DEAR ABBY: I laughed to myself when I read about the bride who said she would rather buy one "good" piece of furniture, as they could afford it, than to set up housekeeping with a lot of "junk" from her relatives' attics. When my husband and I were married five years ago, we furnished our home with discards from our relatives' attics, but I'm glad we did. Now we have three healthy, lively youngsters, all under four years of age. We don't have to worry about any of them getting jelly on our $500 living room sofa because we don't have one. Sign me — "LUCKY"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Unmarried at 27:" It is better to be single and lonely than married and miserable. Furthermore, when a man tells you that you're better off without him, believe him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Discouraged In Lima: Your "failures" can be counted as victories if you have learned something from them.

Royal Japanese Wedding Scheduled

TOKYO (AP) — The royal wedding of Prince Yoshi and Hanako Tsugaru, 23, is officially scheduled for Sept. 30.

The deputy chamberlain of the imperial household notified the bride's parents of the date, set by Emperor Hirohito, today.

Fabrics, Styling Touches Give Story-Book Look

Little girls are beginning to look like figures from story books this season. The influence of other eras can be seen in the velvets, laces and suedes smart girls will be wearing. It's all great fun and mimics Mama's fashions which are also feminine and pretty.

The Edwardian sailor collar appears in black and cream-colored velveteens. French cut-velvet jumpers reminiscent of peasant dress are charming with white pique ruffled-bib blouses. A touch of the princess in her fairy castle is seen in the tiered velveteens with their lifted - waistlines bound in ribbon.

The lacy look of the Victorians is back in under pretties. Bouffants, petti-pants, blouse-slips and sleep-wear show frostings of easy-care lace.

The big silk hair-bow is worn fashionably 'way down low on the forehead or directly center in back. The newest ones come in satin-edged silk plaids with headbands or combs.

More of the romantic look is found in the dainty little flowers decorating wool jersey gloves, and in the old-fashioned look of braids used in trimmings.

The well-mannered look is found in the beautiful tailoring of today's school and dress coats. Suede is being given the tailored treatment as well as casual styling in coats, dresses and vests. Wonderfully warm, it will prove its worth over and over as a cozy windbreaker. Some of the high styling of the new coats is achieved inexpensively with cotton suede and vinyl suede.

"Let's pretend" Persian lamb adds little touches of elegance in collars and cuffs.

The furriest coat of the season imitates the fabled courts of the Far East. It is a budget fake called "Mongolian lamb." Best news for busy mothers is the fact that it's completely washable. So, even though it looks terribly expensive, it can be kept spic and span through frequent tubbings. Furthermore, it has a lining that keeps its owner snugly warm.

New Excitement in Fashions for Children

For the past few seasons the children's wear voacbulary limited to one or two leading categories. Time was when almost anyone could get by fashionably on knowing the "skimmer" look, for almost everything looked like everything else.

No more. No longer is the look waistless, frill-less and spare. Waistlines are defined in most styles this Fall . . . somewhere, if not precisely at the waist.

Femininity is back. "Thank heaven for little girls!" And thank heaven for little girls who look like girls.

The new shaping is gentle and soft, frills enhance this shaping, and are found in blouses for dress and even sportswear.

Shapes in dresses include the blouson, sometimes exaggeratedly inflated, to make young sub-deb look like the infant terrible, lovable Eloise.

Or the blouson can be droopy spilling softly from waist to hip. Always it tops a pleated or A-line skirt, and comes in a great variety of fabrics, from coin-dotted cotton, to herringbone wool and cotton suede.

The overblouse is in again., right for parties and school, as well as coat-dresses, tent-dresses and jacket-dresses.

For parties, velvet takes the spotlight — plaid, quilted, tucker or tiered. Much of it is black, even for the little party-goer. Expect to see the triumphant return of the Princess at paries but not appreciably elsewhere.

To fold egg whites into a batter, use a rubber spatula, cutting it vertically through the mixture and turning over by sliding the spatula across the bottom of the bowl and up. Continue this action until the egg whites combine with the batter.

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

War Will Expand Communism

The theory seems to be prevalent that capitalism can be preserved by fighting a war against nations addicted to communism. Implicit in this theory is the idea that communism is some alien doctrine which afflicts foreigners and that if we can kill off enough of them, there will be no more communism.

There are few assumptions more irrational. Communism is nothing more than a general theory of economics in which the means of production and distribution are owned or controlled by the state. When a condition of war occurs, characteristically, the means of production and distribution of all war implementation and nearly all consumer items are transferred to the state.

For a capitalist nation to wage war against a communist nation requires, in practice, that the capitalist nation put aside capitalism for the duration and surrender to communist-type ownership or control. This would not have to be true. If a capitalist country protected itself by market place methods rather than by political methods, no transfer of control and ownership of the tools of production would be considered. In such a condition, the capitalist nation would be advantageously place in the struggle and might conceivably conduct hostilities without socialist and communist controls.

But as things are presently constituted, a war would simply cause the advent of communism. And how a capitalist nation could preserve capitalism by adopting communism has not been explained.

It seems that people have short memories. By next year, just twenty years will have elapsed since the closing of World War II. If recollection is possible, the individual will recall that during World War II we adopted hundreds of socialist measures, some of which we have never been able to eliminate from that day to this. Although beginnings of socialism in this country occurred long before the start of the second World War, the fact is that that war and all other wars in which we have engaged, have furthered the cause of socialism and communism. They have not deterred it or eliminated it.

But still we hear it said that we should institute hostilities in Cuba, Viet Nam, possibly in Cyprus, possibly across the Formosa Straits, possibly over Berlin, perhaps in a dozen other places, so that we can preserve capitalism and destroy communism. Without in the least understanding the nature of war, some seem to feel that a full implementation of war is the way to preserve what we have and to further the cause of freedom.

The abandonment of the concept that war produces freedom must occur. It must certainly ocur domestically before our foreign situation can be remedied. If we are a land of freedom, we can hardly, in the same breath, support the total absence of freedom which war entails.

Of course, as a result of our American Revolution many people still believe that that war brought freedom to this country. It did not. The American people were free prior to the American revolution. The imposed taxes and controls engineered in the British parliament (never for a moment as severe as those imposed by our own government in this country) sought to destroy the freedom that was here. We took to arms and, with the help of France, defeated the British expeditionary forces. But following the war we did not revert to the condition of freedom which had pertained prior to the advent of King George II in 1760. Instead, we established a government which, with the passing of time, began and continued the long erosion of individual liberty.

It is characteristic of governments long established that when domestic difficulties multiply, these can often be forgotten, if not solved, by embarking upon a foreign war. If the economy is threatened, if unrest develops, if failures occur at home, it is expedient to blame these shortcomings upon some foreign power and to embark on a program of armed violence against such a power.

This procedure, buttressed as it is by government dominance of the economy and the seizure of much treasure at home and abroad, reduces the magnitude of domestic failure in introducing a problem so vast as to make it pale into insignificance.

We should keep in mind that freedom is earned by individuals and not imposed upon them by any government or military force.

All Output, No Input

Some people spend a lot of time complaining about missed opportunities. Possibly the reason they were missed is that they were broadcasting when they should have been tuning in.

More of the Same

Wouldn't you know it! For many years the railroads of the nation have been the victims of crushing taxation and hamstringing regulations. Since the passage of the Sherman antitrust act, the Clayton act and the National Railroad act, the railroads have become the most regulated, featherbedded, dominated and repressed business in the nation. Their tax load is inconceivable. They have been unable to manage their own affairs.

Efforts to cut out unprofitable runs have been obfuscated. Efforts to save money so they could improve their rolling stock or merely to keep it operative, have been nullified by the many pressures and demands put upon them.

So, the Senate Committee on Commerce has finally been spurred into action. But instead of cutting taxes, permitting the railroads to establish competitive rentals for freight cars, and otherwise backing off to let the railroads intelligently manage their own affairs, the committee is proposing new legislation which will hoist the fees paid by railroads in renting freight cars from lines owning the cars. Firm in the minds of the committee is the idea that business can't manage its own affairs. Instead, the government is going to run the railroads, come what may.

Now, there is apparently no question but what the rates charged by lines owning freight cars are below market level. They were fixed by the government years ago and have led to a gradual deterioration of the present rolling stock and a number of usable freight cars.

To remedy the problem, which is serious, the government agency is proposing further regulation and control. Costs of freight shipping, already at prohibitive heights, will have to be increased. And anything but a competitive situation is to be demanded through the operation of the very laws which are supposed to make certain that competition isn't impaired.

Understandably, a number of rail lines are supporting the newly proposed legislation. The present economic structure of freight-car rentals is archaic and wholly inadequate. And, presumably, the railroads have become worn out with the pressure of government and can no longer envisage what their business might be if it could emerge into the free market as a truly competitive business.

But a compulsive hike of freight car rates isn't the answer. This, too, will prove inadequate, in some cases unnecessarily costly, in others, wholly unprofitable.

No government agency of record has ever understood the workings of the price mechanism in the market place. If the railroads could be placed on a competitive basis, by moving them out from under government control, the result would be fantastically beneficial. Some lines would improve their services, lower costs to shippers and generally add to our national picture enormously. Other lines, suffering from obsolescence and poor management, might very well end up in the hands of receivers.

But in the end, the public would be served by more and better services, and in time the services would go down in price, the earning position of the roads would be enhanced, and everyone would benefit.

Truthfully, our American railroads have never completely recovered from the debacle of government ownership and management of the lines which was inaugurated temporarily during World War I. Since then, the management of the railroads by their owners has existed more in theory than in practice.

Virtually everything a railroad does today is not the acting out of management decisions, but the compliance with some government order.

Railroads are important to our entire economy. They are an efficient way of hauling goods and passengers. They could be wonderful, profit-making institutions. They could manage their own affairs and continually improve their equipment and their schedules if we would but let them do it.

SOME QUESTIONS

To the Editor:

One who is a member of the armed forces, or a retired member, would never dare be critical of the commander - in-chief, democracy notwithstanding. But when the political winds begin to blow from the clouds of the election storm, carrying fall-out materials of a contaminating nature, the source of this contamination should be explored — for the good of the nation. It is not the intent here to ride the political winds, but to clear the air.

During the "backlash attack" by the U.S. Fleet in Tonkin Gulf, when our carrier - based aircraft bombed and destroyed enemy military installations in North Viet Nam, two of them were lost.

As the attack was being launched, in the space of time between their departure from the task force and arrival over target, the commander-in-chief made a radio address to the world stating that an attack was in progress and giving the reasons for it.

Subsequent controversy regarding the loss of the two aircraft to ground fire contended that the speech may have alerted the enemy to the attack, and been partially responsible for our losses.

The reply to these accusations informed us that the aircraft was under radar surveillance by the enemy from the time they were launched until they reached the target, hence the information supplied by the speech was of no consequence.

The answer to the following questions would clear the air:

1. Inasmuch as it is common knowledge to almost anyone in the field of electronics that our military electronics countermeasures are capable of "jamming" — blanking out — the enemy tracking radar, how come they were able to track our aircraft from the time they left the carrier until they reached the target?

2. If electronics countermeasures were not used to protect our aircraft by preventing radar tracking by the enemy, could this be construed as a "tactical blunder," and if so, who was negligent?

3. If "jamming" was being successfully used to blank out enemy radar, did the broadcast from Washington tell them that an attack was being made and literally establish an alert?

4. Could a speech of this nature be called "using the military for partisan political opportunism"?

WONDERING

To the Editor:

I have been wondering if the people of the U.S. really have slipped to the low level some would have us believe. I do not believe so. There is too much evidence to the contrary.

I believe we still have a very wonderful, intelligent, sincere and moral inhabitation mainly.

As for the juvenile problem, to which a lot of our readers don't seem to have the answer, Billy Graham gave the answer on TV Wednesday night. These kids are bursting with drive. With good clean leaders who set a good example, they can get started on the right road, or vice versa.

We won't accomplish this by permitting communist speakers in the colleges, universities and other public places of learning. According to Graham, good Christian speakers are the answer and I wholeheartedly agree. We know this from experience.

What they and we need is to have love instilled in the heart, not hate.

This is a mystery to me: Why people will take the word of a member of ADA that Goldwater, a member of no radical groups but "well smeared," has anything but deep love and good intentions for our country and people, whose main desire is to see it prosper and advance as we have known and loved it in the past under God; also, to regain the respect of the world we once had.

Here is what Congressman Jimmie Utt stated: "President Kennedy's contention that the Constitution 'was written for an entirely different period in our nation's history' is as fallacious as it is to say that the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount were written for an entirely different period in the history of mankind, and therefore are not applicable today."

BEAT THE TAX

To the Editor:

Do you want to beat the income tax? Join the thousands who are aready doing it.

Set up a tax-exempt foundation for underprivileged anythings. Donate all your income to it. Since this is a charitable (?) organization you will pay no income tax on that money. Yet it is still yours, you control the spending of its funds.

You can be the main recipient of its charitable grants. It has never been successfully challenged yet in court.

The internal revenue service wants no part of checking records of tax-exempt foundations. There are too many. Yet foundations run banks, control oil companies, run all kinds of industries in competition with private industries and business places who have to pay taxes on all they earn.

There are hundreds of thousands of them, set up for every device from sending one's own children through college on grants and scholarships from one's own personal foundation, tax exempt, of course, to in some cases having the foundation pay one's own personal living expenses.

Working people pay taxes; they get the shirts taken off their backs and most of them are naive enough to think the rich pay the big end of the tax bill.

Rockefeller's income goes into at least seven tax-exempt foundations. LBJ and Goldwater could both do a little clarifying on this issue but you can bet they won't.

It adds up this way. Set up a foundation of some sort if you have enough income. It can support you and still be tax exempt. Get a lawyer, he'll tell you I am right.

Why pay taxes?

WAITING FOR THE G.T.

To the Editor:

Here is a mathematical problem.

The government uses four trains. Train 1 leaves Colorado Springs on Monday with a Gazette Telegraph newspaper. Train 2 leaves Colorado Springs on Tuesday with a Gazette Telegraph newspaper. Train 3 leaves Colorado Springs on Thursday with a Gazette Telegraph newspaper. Train 4 leaves Colorado Springs on Friday with a Gazette Telegraph newspaper.

Allowing one day for travel time, one day for mail handling at both terminals and each train traveling at 60 miles per hour, when will the four editions of the Gazette Telegraph newspaper arrive at my post office in Pennsylvania?

Answer: All four editions (Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday) will arrive at the same time — on Monday of the following week. Wednesday's train allowed me to get Wednesday's paper, somehow, on Friday.

Example: Circulation Department began mailing of the GT Saturday, Aug. 22. Aug. 22 issue arrived on Monday, Aug. 24. Aug. 23 issue arrived on Tuesday, Aug. 25, Wednesday, Aug. 26 edition arrived on Aug. 28. Issues of Aug. 24, 25, 27, 28 arrived on Aug. 31. Issues of Aug. 29 and 30 came in on September 1. Aug. 31 edition arrived on Sept. 3.

When today's mail arrives I know not if I will carry an armload of newspapers or maybe I won't get any. It all depends on how fast the trains are traveling at 60 miles per hour.

And have you ever seen the book containing all the zip code numbers in the nation which mail handlers would need to memorize? The government is nuts!

The American Way

You Can Tell It's An Election Year

By HARRY BROWNE

Yes, you can sure tell it's election year!

"Liberal" politicians become more conservative — and conservatives become more liberal. Both trying to get into the "mainstream" — whatever that is.

But there's one thing they're all agreed upon: if it's an election year, we have to have an increase in "Social Security" benefits. Liberals and conservatives, Republicans and Democrats — all join hands across the aisle and demonstrate a "bi-partisan" show of fiscal irresponsibility.

So in order to get re-elected, politicians will prove their value to you by loading another liability on your back. The misnamed "Social Security" program is already in the hole to the tune of $6,000 for every American family. But we must not hold up re-election!

We are told that our "Social Security" taxes are placed in a "rainy day" fund for us — providing a tidy "nest egg" for the day of retirement. Such is not the case, however.

On July 27, 1962, the Chief Actuary of the Social Security Administration revealed that the fund was $320 billion short of having enough money to pay off all present members of the system. This figure was arrived at by computing the total of all future payments of present members, adding to it the money in the fund as of that date; and then contrasting this with the future "benefits" promised to present members.

But don't let this alarm you. This same gentleman revealed that as long as they can force people to join the program, there is nothing to worry about. They intend to simply take the money away from future members to pay off present members.

In fact, the intention is to collect from future S. S. members $640 billion and pay them only $377 billion in "benefits". This was revealed by the same S.S. Actuary in the Proceedings, Casualty Actuarial Society of 1959, page 229.

Any private insurance company that operated on this basis would be padlocked by the "Social Security" program.

And yet, despite this monstrous deficit, private insurance companies have indicated that they could take over the program, put it on a sound basis, make a profit, and pay off all existing obligations.

Such is the genius of our magnificent private enterprise system. And such, by comparison, is the bankruptcy of government economic operation — a program that relies upon force to keep afloat.

Without the ability to force people to join, "Social Security" would collapse overnight. For it is a fraud that has been perpetrated on us—for the purpose of keeping politicians in office.

The program should be transferred to private enterprise. There it would be operated responsibly. It would have to be sound or it wouldn't survive and make a profit for its owners. You would have a contract — you'd have freedom of choice — and it would at last be secure.

Tree Murderers

By RUSSELL KIRK

Some people seem to hate trees with a diabolical passion.

In Danvers, Massachusetts, unknown vandals have hacked and sawed to pieces the oldest fruit tree in the United States; tree surgeons are endeavoring, by extraordinary measures, to save the remnant of it. The Danvers pear tree was planted in 1639 by John Endicott, governor of Massachusetts Bay, and had borne fruit ever since. This barbarous act was the actrocity of a whole crew of depredators, working with some system. What manner of man hates historic living things?

In Gironella's novel of the Spanish Civil War, "The Cypresses Believe in God," members of the Anarchist Party of Gerona deliberately set fire to the ancient cypresses of the countryside in that dry land — to demonstrate their subversive power, and because they seem to hate trees as a symbol of vitality and continuity. Human nature cannot sink much lower.

In England, there is a sporadic campaign against hedgerows, by strange people who would like to see the English countryside treeless, apparently. The small trees of the hedgerows are among the chief charms of the English landscape, and shelter bird life.

This destruction of trees is nothing new, nevertheless. In the last century, boys virtually destroyed the oldest tree in Britain, the yew at Fortingall, Scotland, by building bonfires in its hollow trunk. (It survives only in a mutilated and diminished state, in a venerable little churchyard.)

State and county highway departments sometimes are among the enemies of trees, ruthlessly chopping down maples and elms and oaks near the right-of-way, perhaps on the theory that one of these might some day fall across the pavement. A few years ago, the Michigan legislature found it necessary to pass a resolution deploring this grim utilitarian destruction of beauty.

In the days of my youth, the oldest man in town — still vigorous, though — used to spend his time chopping down trees, whenever anyone offered him the chance. My kinsfolk used to wonder if he resented the possibility of anything living longer than himself.

In the late C. S. Lewis' romance, "That Hideous Strength," one of the fell designs of the villains (committed, like their other offenses, in the name of Progress) is gradually to destroy all trees in the world, so that the earth will have what they consider a smooth, bald, bare beauty: they hate anything organic. In the end, it turns out that these "reformers" have been the unwitting servants of a supernatural diabolical power.

Around my old house, the tall elms stand dead this year, and I must have them taken down; the dread elm blight destroyed them this spring and summer. But I shall plant maples and oaks and pines and spruces in their stead. To plant a tree is an act of piety, I think — signifying that the order of creation is good, and that man is here to maintain and beautify it, not to deface.

So what manner of man is it that murders trees? I would that he were in a pine box. And I'd like to paddle the boys who — possibly in ignorance —deeply girdle the silver birch trees, so that they wither; and the other rascals who wantonly snap off the growing-points of saplings.

Pandora's Box in New York

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The hotly contested New York Senate race could easily become the most costly campaign in congressional history for everyone involved — including the American taxpayers.

While neither GOP Senator Keating nor Robert Kennedy, his Democratic challenger, are talking in public about the high costs, their political strategists are privately saying that the total campaign spending could easily top $5 million.

The latest campaign plans of Senator Keating call for spending nearly $2 million, while the confidential estimate of the well - financed Kennedy staff runs to more than $3 million.

And that's not all of the money being spent to turn out the vote in this crucial election.

While few taxpayers or members of Congress realize it, tens of thousands of dollars in federal funds are being pumped into Harlem in an unprecedented vote registration project, designed to register the more than 50 per cent of persons over 21 who have never voted.

Under the tight supervision of Haryou-Act, a semi - private organization handling millions in federal, state and private funds to fight poverty and juvenile delinquency, taxpayer funds are being used to set up neighborhood centers for voter registration drives.

This controversial project, which already has produced some startling results in increased Democratic registrations in Harlem, is the brainchild of Kennedy and David Hackett, former executive director of the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, which the former attorney general headed before he resigned.

Hackett, who skillfully sold the project to the Harlem organization, is now on Kennedy's New York campaign staff, master-minding the drive to register and get out the New York Negro vote for "Bobby."

Before departing from Washington last week, Hackett told a caller that the Haryou-Act project was tailor-made to get out a heavy Negro vote for Kennedy in Harlem.

He also revealed that the Haryou-Act group, which is seeking $118 million in state and federal funds for its three-year project, will soon receive a new million dollar grant from the federal government.

The amount of this grant that will go into the registration drive is not known. However, there are estimates that nearly $50,000, and maybe more, already has gone into this project.

Senator Keating's campaign aides, who plan to raise some explosive questions about the Kennedy-Hackett project, are now seeking to determine whether the General Accounting Office has ever passed on the legality of spending funds to fight juvenile delinquency in this manner.

Another highly controversial Haryou-Act project that may become a burning issue in the Keating-Kennedy contest is the "cadet corps" for Negro youths.

Set up with federal funds from the formerly Kennedy-run President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, this paramilitary-type organization is designed to install military discipline into the lives of Negro youths.

Operating for the first time this summer in selected public school buildings, the "cadet corps" offered uniforms to boys 9 years old and older. Military discipline was employed by drilling with dummy rifles. Remedial school work was disguised in the form of a military manual.

More than one hundred Negro cadets took part in the program. They developed their own system of ranks and court-martials to bring discipline into the units.

According to a little-publicized report prepared by the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, "These cadet corps reflect the fact that lower-income youths prefer the rituals, symbols, and activities of a paramilitary organization to the soft, folksy styles of traditional recreational programs."

Some deeply concerned U.S. intelligence authorities, who are watching the growing flow of arms and subversives into Harlem, say that "the 'cadet corps' reflect a questionable use of U.S. funds in a very explosive area." They point out that neither Kennedy nor none of his aides took the responsibility to see that militant black Muslims and Communists are kept out of these projects. Should these radical and subversive groups gain control of these youth, they stress, there could be guerrilla warfare within the nation's largest city.

That's the pandora's box that "Bobby" Kennedy opened before deciding to seek a Senate seat from New York as his new political power base.

From this powerful rostrum, Kennedy hopes to capture the leadership of the "emerging, revolutionary youth" of the world. In his own words, these youths in Harlem, Saigon, Seoul, Istanbul, and other Western world capitals, are capable of "bringing governments tumbling down over their heads."

insburg Battles o Keep Barry ut of California

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maga- ie publisher Ralph Ginzburg arged today the California upreme Court was "high hand- " in throwing out his suit eking to keep Republican esidential nominee Barry oldwater off the state's ballot November.

Ginzburg has filed a similar it in New Jersey and plans file one in New York next eek.

He is publisher of "Fact" agazine. He began the publi- ation after he was convicted of ublishing pornography and his ow defunct magazine "Eros" as banned from the mails. His onviction is currently under ppeal.

Ginzburg contends that Gold- ater is constitutionally ineligi- le to run for President of the nited States because he was orn in Arizona territory in 909, three years before it be- ame a state. He bases his ase on the U.S. Constitution which says "no person except natural born citizen or a citi- en of the United States at the ime of the adoption of this Constitution shall be eligible for he office of president."

Melvin Belli, the lawyer who efended Jack Ruby on charges f murdering accused presiden- ial assassin Lee Harvey Os- wald, filed the suit for Ginz- urg in California.

It was a double-barreled ac- ion. He field the suit in Su- perior Court in San Francisco and before the state Supreme Court.

The high court Friday reject- ed the suit.

"It was kind of high handed to throw it out without even a comment," Ginzburg said. "But we have another shot at it in California.

"I feel we will win. The court will have to pervert the Constitution in order for us not to win."

When a mechanic only has one model to worry about, he can worry a lot more efficiently.

Can you see much difference between them?

Neither can our mechanics. That's what makes their work so repetitious. And so good.

When you service the same car for years, you get to know a lot about the little thing. (The fact that most Volkswagen parts are interchangeable from year to year doesn't hurt any.)

So for VW mechanics, routine service is very routine indeed.

Of course, every time there's an improvement in the VW it throws them.

Into ecstasy.

They give anything that's new in a VW so much attention that it gets old for them pretty fast.

Then it's back to dull perfectionism again.

Lost Indian Tribes Traced In Ohio Valley

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A Pittsburgh archaeologist, aided by teams of volunteers, is piecing together the fate of a lost tribe of Indians who inhabited the Ohio Valley between the years 1000 and 1050.

Dr. Donald Dragoo, curator of the archaeology department of Carnegie Museum, has received two government grants to finance two years of research on the Monongahela Indians.

The National Science Foundation has granted $18,800 to Dragoo and the National Parks Service has added $3,500. Dragoo is attempting to learn what happened to the Monongahelas who inhabited portions of Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

The areas of study are in the Monongahela River and French Creek valleys of Western Pennsylvania, where flood control dams will cover the ancient Monongahela Indian village sites. Other study areas are in the Shenango River Reservoir and Kinzua Dam basins in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Dragoo, who is heading six to eight teams of volunteers, estimated there now are 300 Monongahela Indian villages recorded and a similar number unrecorded.

Since field operations began in early June, Dragoo has located 26 Monongahela village sites.

Currently, Dragoo and his teams are digging in Greene County in Southwestern Pennsylvania where he estimates there are 10 Monongahela village sites.

In this area, Monongahela towns were located along the Great Warrior Trail, a land route on a ridge from the Monongahela River near Waynesburg, Pa., to the Ohio River near Moundsville, W. Va.

Dragoo hopes these town sites will tell him what made the Monongahelas pack up and desert the Ohio Valley, leaving it much a no-man's land.

Dragoo says the Monongahelas were farmers who lived in round houses in round villages with central plazas surrounded by stockades.

He theorizes that as the Monongahela population exploded villages began to compete over soil rights, since constant farming wore out the land.

This led to local wars and stockades were constructed around communities.

Dragoo says all the arrows found to date in the ill-fated Monongahela villages have been Monongahela arrows. He said that to date he has found no evidence of other Indian cultures in the Monongahela villages uncovered.

This has thrown out previous speculation that the Monongahelas were exterminated by other Indian tribes.

SUGGESTION PAYS OFF—A civilian suggestion submitted through channels to Hq. USAF pays off for Miss Marian Klipping, an accounting technician in the Quality Control section of Air Defense Command Accounting and Finance, DCS/Comptroller. Col. James O. Gross, DCS/Comptroller for ADC, presents her with a $350 check for the adopted suggestion. It was submitted in 1958 and adopted by Hq. USAF in July, 1960, but full savings were not realized until recently. Miss Klipping's idea involved management improvements and has saved the Air Force $7,187 since its inception. Farmer Boycott Hints of Change, Analyst Says

By CHAD SKAGGS

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization livestock holding action can be compared with a huge rain cloud. While it has produced little economic effect so far, its very existence is a symptom of conditions that forbode a change.

It has been accompanied by scattered violence, although few of the deliberate incidents have been linked to NFO members and none to the organization.

Farmers, farm leaders and government officials agree that something must be done to change the situation in which the farmer is paying more for what he buys while getting less for what he sells.

Many farmers, however, express doubt that the change can be accomplished by a farmers' boycott of markets — a tactic the NFO has pressed in 23 states since Aug. 20.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley continues to exhibit confidence. "You don't judge a holding action on day-to-day receipts," he told The Associated Press.

"You judge the cumulative effect. We have already cut deeply into the meat supply in storage. Now farmers are in the position of being able to really tighten the holding action down, because most of the production that was in the hands of captive sellers or farmers that have intended to sell has already been marketed," Staley said.

Harold Schafroth, who has a dairy farm west of here, said: "My neighbor and I — he's a dairyman too — were going through our old milk receipts the other day. We found that we're not getting as much for milk now as we did in 1953.

"And it's showing up. My standard of living is down. Look at my old car over there." He waved toward an elderly Dodge.

Schafroth is not an NFO member. He said that if he had livestock ready he would ship it to market. He said he doesn't believe the holding action has enough strength at present to achieve its purpose.

Another farmer, Boyd Everman, has 100 hogs ready for market and is withholding them, although he is not a NFO member.

"We'll just have to keep holding out until we get big enough to make things right, or else we'll have to have a government program on livestock like we do on grain," he said. He plans to keep his hogs off the market "as long as I can without going under."

Albert E. Beatty, a breeding cattle producer of nearby Waukee, also was skeptical. "It won't work unless everybody holds," said this Farm Bureau member.

"If I had a lot of meat animals I might hold a while," he said, "but I won't have anything to do with any of this violence."

Leaders of the NFO insist they discourage violence. They have said the shooting of vehicle tires, dynamite blasts, fence cuttings and similar incidents which have marred the holding action could have been done by sacion could have been done by someone trying to discredit the NFO.

Last Days Are Near, Billy Graham Says

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham claims conditions today are similar to those which the Bible says will precede the end of the world.

He said more and more nations are gaining the capacity for nuclear warfare, and added: "Some madman sometime, somewhere, will pull that trigger unless God intervenes. We may not have much longer. We don't know."

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Leading motors and steels made new highs as the stock market moved ahead again early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains of key stocks ranged from fractions to a point or so.

Rubbers, chemicals and airlines tagged along with a slightly higher trend but coppers, utilities, rails, electrical equipments and electronics were mixed.

Motors and steels were affected by published statements that businessmen see the Chrysler pact with the United Auto Workers as producing an inflationary climate.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.50 at 867.74, which topped the closing high of 867.13 made Friday.

A fractional advance was enough to put General Motors over the glamorous price level of 100. Chrysler ran up well over a point and Ford's gain narrowly topped a point. Both GM and Chrysler were at historic peaks, adjusted for splits.

Among the major steelmakers, Jones & Laughlin and Bethlehem were up nearly a point each, Republic and U.S. Steel fractions — all to highs for the year.

IBM recouped half a dozen points of recent heavy losses. Xerox added 2. Polaroid was unchanged following its decline of Monday.

In a scrambled copper group, Anaconda forged ahead more than a point while Phelps Dodge crumpled to a 2-point loss and Kennecott was off about a point.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market showed more firmness than weakness most of the time today as soybeans attracted a continued active demand and again climbed to season highs on the Board of Trade.

Renewed buying was credited by brokers to speculators who were understood to have become fearful of further crop damage from an early frost. They said period of prolonged wet weather also could reduce the harvest.

Carlot receipts were estimated at: wheat 28, corn 522, oats 6, rye 1, barley 11, soybeans 22.

Cold Spell Chills Wide Areas of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wintry temperatures chilled a wide segment of the eastern third of the nation today for the third consecutive day while thunderstorms and showers were prevalent in the Midwest and Southwest.

Readings near the freezing mark were reported across much of the upper Great Lakes area and into the 40s as far south as Tennessee. At Hibbing, Minn., the temperature dipped to 28 degrees during the night.

Light showers accompanied another thrust of polar air into the southern Great Lakes region.

Local Men to Be Granted Charter To Underwriters

Mocky R. Fouts and James W M.acon of Colorado Springs are among 23 life insurance people in this state who will be granted the Chartered Life Underwriter designation at the National Conferment Exercises of the American College of Life Underwriters in Cincinnati, Ohio on Sept. 23.

The American College of Life Underwriters grants two equivalent designations: the Chartered Life Underwriter (C.L.U.) for those connected with the field underwriting and agency operations of life or health insurance companies, and the Chartered Life Underwriter Associate (C.L.U. Associate) for others in life or health insurance.

In order to qualify for either designation, candidates must pass a series of professional examinations and meet the experience and ethical requirements of the college.

The C.L.U. study program was established to meet the professional education needs of the men and women who provide life and health insurance service for the public.

The courses cover such areas as: fundamentals of life and health insurance; group insurance, health insurance and pensions; law, trust and taxation; finance and economics; and business insurance and estate planning.

This year 1,100 men and women will be awarded the designation, bringing to 12,722 the number of people who have received it since the American College was founded in 1927.

Phelps Hits Tax Problems At Local Realtor Luncheon

"Total taxes on property and assessments 10 years ago was a little more than a $125 million dollars. Today the total has risen to $250 million," W. Field Phelps, El Paso County tax assessor told an overflow crowd Monday.

Speaking to the group at it's opening fall luncheon at the Swiss Chalet restaurant, Phelps said that property taxes are as high as they should be but people seem to want to do nothing in the way of offering a solution to the tax situation.

Referring to the population and industry increase in the county, Phelps said that everything has doubled in the last 10 years.

"This costs money. New schools are being built and staffed. New equipment is needed to keep public institution systems up to date. "Teachers' salaries continue to rise and there are those who think teachers should have more money, but I'll not argue this point," Phelps added.

In relation to the new tax evaluation law passed by the Colorado General Assembly, Phelps said that all real estate will be evaluated on an actual value basis, 30 per cent of which will form the basis of taxation. This will mean little change in structure taxes but a general tax increase on land. The reason for the latter tax increase is because much of the county land has been previously taxed on about 15 per cent of its value, he said.

Some of the older buildings may receive an increased tax rate due to the fact such structures were evaluated far below the 30 per cent level during the past few years, Phelps pointed out.

"Our office is now employing data processing equipment to enable us to keep ahead of the increasing work in our departments, Phelps said.

"We are remapping every parcel of ground in El Paso County and 63 maps are already prepared. Traffic surveys both automatic and personal have been conducted during the past year," Phelps said.

"The increasing work load in our department meant I must find additional appraisers. This is difficult due to the low wage scale set for this job. We have men working in this capacity whose salary averages from $300 to $350 per month. There's not much incentive for new workers here," he said.

Phelps introduced at the meeting his supervisor of the drafting department, Dennis J. Johnson. Johnson, a student at the University of Minnesota for two years, spent two years and five months in the United States Army where he worked at photo intelligence man and also in map survey.

Upon his discharge from the service in 1962, he was employed by Phelps and has remained in the department as a draftsman.

Other business at the luncheon included the presentation to Hubert E. Ingels of an Achievement Award by the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

The award was presented following the luncheon meeting by the president of the local Board of Realtors, James R. Walker, in recognition of Ingels' work as State Membership Chairman of the Institute.

The local Board carries a 100 per cent membership, which means that each of the 69 Brokers of the local Board is a member of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

Likewise, over the state many realtor brokers have become members of the Institute. The Colorado Springs Board, however, is outstanding in that it carries a 100 per cent membership.

Few of the Boards in the nation match this achievement. Ingels is past president of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors and is serving this year as Chairman of the 44th Annual Convention of Real Estate Boards, which will be held at the Broadmoor, Oct. 7-9

During the convention the Brokers Institute will play a prominent part in the educational program, officials said.

Chrysler Car Deliveries Up 10 Per Cent

Chrysler - Plymouth Division dealers of the Kansas City region delivered 2,373 new passenger cars in August for a 10.2 per cent gain over August of last year, it is reported by P. M. Milts, regional manager.

The Kansas City region is made up of western Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska, western Iowa, southern South Dakota, and most of Wyoming.

Nationally, the combined sales of Plymouth, Chrysler and Imperial cars in August totaled 46,849, the highest in seven years for that month. Sales for tht first eight months of the year came to 416,055, which was also the highest since 1957.

There are more than 4,800 insurance companies with headquarters in this country.

Sears Launches 78th Birthday Celebration

The local Sears store will join the more than 770 other Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail stores across the nation, Thursday morning, in launching the company's 78th Anniversary Celebration.

"Our anniversary theme is "This Is Sears Today," said G. A. Cheney, store manager.

"We will dramatize through outstanding merchandise offerings our 78 years of experience and growth in product development, quality, performance, and distribution. These are the elements that have built the modern Sears organization.

"We want customers to know that Sears appreciates their patronage and this sale demonstrates that gratitude," Cheney said.

The local store is competing against other Sears stores in the Southwest territory for an anniversary award based on sales performance.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. traces its origins to 1886 when a shipment of watches was reused by a jeweler in North Redwood, Minn.

Richard Warren Sears, a 23-year-old station agent in that town, promptly asked and received permission from the manufacturer to dispose of the timepieces. He sold them by mail to fellow agents along the rail line.

His business mushroomed and Sears soon quit his job to open an office in Minneapolis. In 1887 he moved his operations to Chicago and placed a newspaper want ad for a good watchmaker. An Indiana farm boy, Alvah C. Roebuck, answered the ad and thus was formed one of the world's best-known partnerships.

From the time Sears started in business in 1886 until 1925, the company sold merchandise through catalogs only. In 1925 Sears entered the retail store business on an experimental basis. The experiment was a quick success and the company then embarked on a vast retail expansion program which has continued without interruption, except for the war years.

The local Sears store was opened in February 1928 at 120 South Tejon with 12 employees. It was enlarged in 1938.

On Feb. 28, 1957, the new Sears store at Southgate was opened which now has over 450 employees at the retail store and warehouse.

Continental Up in Passenger Miles

Continental Airlines flew 897,000,000 revenue passenger miles in the first eight months of 1964, a 13 per cent gain from the 793,000,000 total for the comparable 1963 period, the company reported today.

Marvin L. Davis, vice president — sales, said the company set an all-time monthly record in August of 136,000,000 revenue passenger miles, 19 per cent above July, 1964 and 4 per cent above the previous high of 131,000,000 established in August last year.

New Restaurants Encouraging Sit-In Customers

Now restaurants are encouraging sit-ins.

It's more a matter of civilized rites than civil rights, though.

They're going in for bigger, plusher more comfortable chairs in the hopes that diners will sit in — and linger over a second cup of after-dinner coffee, reveals a survey by Shelby Williams Industries, leading manufacturer of restaurant chairs.

It's a contradiction to the widely-held belief of a few years back, when a lot of resturants were suspected of going in for uncomfortable chairs — on purpose. The idea, tradition had it, was to get you in and out in a hurry and encourage a fast turnover.

The new sit-in trend is part of the bigger trend to leisure and luxury, the Shelby Williams study found.

Gracious dining, it turned out, was one thing Americans had to take sitting down — in comfort. So more and more restaurants began ordering more comfortable chairs to attract the luxury-minded diners looking for a spot for a leisurely sit in, the Shelby Williams survey explains.

Now the only time you're likely to squirm in your restaurant chair is when the waiter brings the check.

Fountain Valley Sod Farm Is Now Under Development

What will be one of the largest sod farms in Colorado is under development in Fountain Valley.

Widefield housewives craned necks over backyard fences during the past six weeks to watch heavy equipment rip up subsurface rocks and level the bumps off what will be the region's largest lawn.

Fountain Valley Sod Co. is growing its first sod crop on 20 acres of land owned by John Ceresa, Colorado Sprinbs businessman and Fountain Valley rancher, west of the village of Widefield and old Highway 85-87.

The management of the sod farm said they will "grown the finest sod availale in Colorado," and enough to supply the entire present market in Colorado Springs Pueblo and Southern Colorado. They said the farm will be the only sod growing operation in Southern Colorado.

They are planting Kentucky bluegrass rated 99 per cent pure with 90 per cent germination.

As automatic sprinklers whirred last week to keep the young bluegrass seed moist for maximum germination on the 2 acre plot, leveling and stone pulling equipment was used to prepare an adjacent 40 acres for seeding this fall.

The management plans to grow sod eventually on 150 acres of Ceresa's land. The entire farm will be watered with an automatic syncronized irrigation system developed by Power and Equipment Co. of Greeley. The complicated system of above surface pipes and timers completely waters a field for 15 minutes every four hours.

Many persons have cooperated in the venture and will continue to work together, including: Don McCauley, former Northeast Colorado rancher and landscaper, the manager; Jack Sutton, consulting botanist for O. M. Scott Co. in their research and development department for industrial turf areas; Wayne Parr, Variety Landscaping Denver, who did professional seeding; A. A. Hanson of Colorado Springs Realty Co., business manager; and the office of the County Extension Agent.

The project stated before a row of soil was plowed. Soil was analyzed through Sutton's company and Colorado State University in Ft. Collins. Experts there suggested the use of chemical additives which were later applied.

Water to grow the grass will be pumped from underground sources directly beneath the sod farm on the Ceresa property. Wells for the abundant water supply were drilled by Joe Coniff Well Drilling.

At this time the management is not sure how many permanent employes will be needed in the operation.

Sixty acres of sod will be available by early next summer for local retail and wholesale outlets.

Insurance Group To Honor Local Workers

In recognition of outstanding achievements in the insurance field, Rollie Paulson and Jerry Kosley, district managers, and Madeline Busby and Bill Pape, agents, of Colorado Springs this week will be the guests of Farmers Insurance Group at its Topper Club Convention at Writers Manor, Denver, according to E. G. Zwaschka, vice president in charge of sales for the company whose home office in in Los Angeles.

J. N. Bigelow, officer in charge of claims, and Zwaschka will spearhead the business session and address the delegates.

Topper Club honors are awarded annually by Farmers Insurance Group to its leading district managers and agents through out the 25 states in which the company is operative.

Membership is made up of those who meet product standards in all five member companies of the organization. Wives of club members also will be guests.

Arrangements for the convention are being handled by George E. Stephens, regional manager, and Glen Rose, regional sales manager for the Mountain States with headquarters in Colorado Springs.

Delegates to the Denver meeting have been selected from Colorado, Nebraska, New Mexico, and Wyoming.

How smart are you about investing?

(Take this test about stocks and bonds and see. Check all answers you think are correct.)

1. A good reason to consider investing is:
☐ A. You want to get rich quickly.
☐ C. You hope to get a second income from interest on bonds or dividends from stock.

2. The amount of money you might consider investing is:
☐ A. Everything that's left over after paying the rent, food and clothing bills.
☐ B. Whatever you can scrape together after taking out a personal loan, mortgaging your house and emptying the cookie jar.
☐ C. As much as you feel you can afford to invest after giving first call to living expenses and an emergency fund.

3. The way to choose stocks and bonds is:
☐ A. Get facts from a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Ask a Registered Representative for his opinion, then make your decision.
☐ B. Ask your friends and neighbors about the stocks they have heard about. Choose the ones that most of them recommend.
☐ C. Listen to any exciting rumors from an acquaintance or a persuasive stranger willing to let you in on a "sure thing." Buy fast.

4. The thing to keep in mind about securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange is:
☐ A. They can usually be bought and sold quickly in a fair and orderly market.
☐ C. They offer varying degrees of rewards and risk.

Answers:
1. "B" & "C" are correct. (Smart investors set goals for themselves, usually for the long term. People who plunge to get rich quickly usually get poor quickly.)
2. "C" is correct. (Smart investors don't invest money they are going to need in the foreseeable future. Some systematically invest through the Monthly Investment Plan, with as little as $40 every three months.)
3. "A" is correct. (Smart investors take advantage of knowledgeable advice. One source to consult is the Registered Representative. He had to meet Exchange requirements at the time he became a broker in a Member Firm.)
4. All the answers are correct.

Miss America Faces Year of Appearances

NEW YORK (AP) — A strenuous and glamorous year lay ahead today for Vonda Kay Van Dyke, the new Miss America, but Vonda isn't sure whether she has awakened yet from a dream.

As the newly crowned beauty queen awaited her first meeting with the New York press, her boy friend in Phoenix, Ariz., was hoping that Vonda's year in the spotlight would not change their lives.

The 21-year-old brunette, her brown eyes glistening as she dabbed them with a tissue, described the dreamlike quality of her coronation.

"After making the walk back and forth on the runway, I started up the steps to the chair. I thought that when I got up there, I would put out my hand and it would not be there," she said.

In Phoenix Duane Kapp, 22, a law student at the University of Arizona, was "not too sure what this is going to mean for the two of us."

"I don't quite know how to react, but I know I feel unhappy for myself," he said after Miss Arizona's crowning. "There's a chance this may affect her life, and if this happens I know she won't be the girl I knew and the girl I loved."

Vonda and young Kapp have known each other six years. While they had made no definite plans, marriage "was one of those things we knew would be in the future," he said.

Vonda's immediate future involves a month here posing for pictures and being fitted out with a wardrobe.

A senior at Arizona State University, she will postpone her final year of college until after she tours as Miss America.

First prize in the pageant brought her a $10,000 scholarship and an estimated $80,000 in personal appearance contracts. Another $1,000 scholarship came with her selection by the other 49 girls as the pageant's Miss Congeniality — the first time that a Miss America had won the popularity contest.

Women Voters Said Favoring Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says a poll taken for it by Louis Harris showed women voters favor President Johnson's election over the Republican candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater, 64 per cent to 36 per cent.

The magazine's current issue said the women, by 53-47 per cent, think Goldwater — "if elected — would involve the United States in war. By contrast, the magazine reported, 55 per cent of male voters polled do not think this is true.

Playwright's Son To Go to Ireland

NEW YORK (AP)—Shane O'Neill, son of the late playwright Eugene O'Neill, told a New York Supreme Court judge Monday he's going back to Ireland to try to get away from bad habits.

Judge Henry Clay Greenberg then gave O'Neill a suspended sentence for attempting to get barbiturates by fraud and placed him on probation for a year. O'Neill had pleaded guilty and faced a year's imprisonment.

Cold Weather Clothing Tested

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—The aerospace medical division of the U.S. Air Force believes it has found the most logical place to test cold weather clothing and equipment.

A new laboratory has been built high on Mt. Wrangell in Alaska. It is a dormant volcano and one of the highest mountains in south central Alaska.

Helicopters were used to transport men and construction equipment to the site of a large plateau at the 13,800-foot level. It affords natural stresses such as high altitude, reduced oxygen, constant cold and prolonged darkness.

The cold dry air and accompanying conditons are hard to reproduce for long periods of time in cold chambers, where previous tests have been made. And most arctic areas present miserable conditions for the men making the studies.

This is where Mt. Wrangell as a volcano has advantages. Special flooring of the lab building allows conduction of heat from the mountain so temperature inside will be comfortable while outside the air temperatures are far below zero.

Scientists from the University of Alaska will join forces with military experts in the research under the Arctic Aeromedical Laboratory of the Air Force Systems Command. They plan snow and ice studies from the surrounding compact glacial systems, seismological and volcanological studies, and meteorological observations to enhance weather reporting.

Getting the lab building in place was a team effort. Fifteen tons of supplies and equipment were moved to the plateau by army helicopter from a base camp 60 miles away, at Gulkana, Alaska. Craggy terrain and numerous active glaciers made it necessary to move the fragile material by air.

The main research program at the site will be in testing arctic clothing and various equipment.

Another major effort may be an investigation of the psychological effects of environmental stress on human subjects. The Air Force said medical scientists will determine the effect of these extremes in terms of what happens to human body fluids, enzymes and hormones.

Other questions the Air Force researchers hope to answer include:

How much food does a man need in extreme cold conditions?

How well does a man withstand infection and disease?

How important is physical fitness to man undergoing this environmental stress for long periods of time?

The Air Force gave credit for the project to months of research, planning and team effort under direction of Lt. Col. F. M. G. Holmstrom, commander of the Air Force Arctic Aeromedical Laboratory.

—A close-to-home tour for—
DENVER AND COLORADO SPRINGS

This trip combines all types of countryside, from flat farmland to the high Rockies

From Horace Greeley's Colony to Teddy Roosevelt's Forest

This 186-mile one-day outing from Denver takes you and your family north to the rich farm country a famous New York editor chose for his dream colony and on into the mountain playground of Roosevelt National Forest.

(CLIP AND SAVE THIS TOUR)

THE WONDERS OF COLORADO take many forms—the rocky grandeur of the mountains, timber of the forests, wildlife and wildflowers, and traces of history which have survived thousands of years.

To Horace Greeley the rich black loam of the Platte Valley was a marvel. Why not combine a visit to the town named for the great editor, with a tour of the natural marvels along Poudre Canyon, a highland domain of lakes, rivers and sunlit green forests?

Fishing, camping, photography—there's outdoor fun for all the family. Make a day or a weekend of it! No matter how much you see or do, there's always plenty left to appreciate, enjoy and study. You'll find the more places your children see by car, the more they'll want to learn about their state and nation.

You start from the junction of Vasquez Boulevard and Colorado Boulevard.

0m. DENVER. Drive north on Vasquez Boulevard, U.S. 85, along the South Platte River, passing Brighton and Fort Lupton, where once an acre of land was offered free to anyone who would open a business or factory.

36m. FORT VASQUEZ STATE HISTORICAL MONUMENT, at Platteville, a faithful reconstruction of the original adobe post burned by Indians in 1842. Today the four-lane highway cuts through the heart of this irrigated farmland. Continue north on U.S. 85.

54m. GREELEY, one of Colorado's prettiest cities. Horace Greeley, the great promoter of the West and editor of the NEW YORK TRIBUNE, was so impressed with this region that he and his agricultural editor, Nathan Meeker, purchased 12,000 acres of land and began to interest Easterners in establishing a colony. In 1870 Meeker arrived with fifty families and their cooperative Union Colony became a reality. Irrigation projects were begun, crops raised and the town grew rapidly.

Visit the MEEKER MEMORIAL MUSEUM, formerly the home of Nathan Meeker. It contains many of his furnishings and the plow that turned the first sod in the Union Colony. Meeker himself crossed the Continental Divide and became an Indian agent. He was slain by the Ute Indians. Another point of interest in Greeley is COLORADO STATE COLLEGE, on a beautiful wooded campus within the city limits.

Continue north on U.S. 85 through Weld County farmlands which annually produce and market $100,000,000 worth of cattle, sugar beets, barley, dry beans, potatoes and other products. It is said these farms can produce as much corn as the corn belt of Iowa and some of the "beefiest" cattle in the world. Turn west at Ault on Route 14 to . . .

83m. FORT COLLINS, one of the country's largest lamb-feeding centers. Visit the PIONEER MUSEUM on Peterson Street, displaying the cabin of the first settler in this section, a collection of old guns and memorabilia of the old fort that once stood on this site. At Fort Collins you can also stop at the headquarters of ROOSEVELT NATIONAL FOREST, comprising almost 800,000 acres of mountain playground due west. Continue through Bellvue and pass the State Fish Hatchery, and head into the hills via the "Route of the Trout." Route 14 follows the Cache La Poudre River through Poudre Canyon, a narrow gorge penetrated by river and road. This canyon offers some of the most unusual cliff formations in Colorado, fine fishing, pine and spruce grandeur in the giant Rockies. It takes you into ROOSEVELT NATIONAL FOREST, named in honor of Theodore Roosevelt, which provides water for power, irrigation, industry and homes. It is a "multiple-use forest," with appropriate areas designed for cattle grazing, timber cutting, wildlife protection and recreation. Some of the best fishing streams in the state are located back from the highway.

105m. FORT COLLINS MOUNTAIN PARK, in a broad, wooded valley, is a beautiful recreation area with camping and picnic grounds and nature trails. A number of recreation areas lie along the Cache La Poudre. If you have the time, you can drive west through 10,285-foot Cameron Pass in the Medicine Bow Range, or north to West Lake Campground, at 8,300 feet, close to the lovely Red Feather Lakes. Return to Stove Landing, east of the scenic Big Narrows, and turn south on the unnumbered forest road passing Buckhorn Mountain and Masonville, then turn left on U.S. 34.

133m. LOVELAND, the heart of the Colorado-Big Thompson water diversion project. Giant CARTER LAKE is one of the prime eastern slope features of this massive transmountain water diversion project. The Horsetooth Feeder Canal transports water by gravity to the Big Thompson River, the city of Loveland municipal water works and to Horsetooth Reservoir.

Water brought east under the mountain is also used for recreation. The shores of pretty Lake Loveland make a fine spot for a picnic stop or just a place to rest and romp while you watch the motor boats and water skiers churn their way around the lake.

Turn south on U.S. 287 for a leisurely drive through the stock-raising and farming country around Berthoud and Longmont.

186m. DENVER, via the Valley Highway, Federal Boulevard and 46th Avenue take you back to your starting point at the end of a day in which you've had a close-up of Colorado farming, nature, history, variety and grandeur that you and your family will long remember.

PIKES PEAK
UNITED

NO DOOR TO DOOR DRIVE — A pilot campaign completed in advance of the United Fund Drive found all employees of the Crissey Fowler Lumber Co., contributing to the support of the 33 agencies of the Pikes Peak United Fund. The majority were fair share givers, contributing one hours pay per month. At top from left are: Gene Christy and Harold Eckley. In the lower row are Joseph Lemaster, Mrs. Louis A. Johnson and Alfred Espinosa. The group were responsible for the successful campaign in the lumber company. The emphasis in the current campaign is on giving at the place of employment. Only retired persons and those with home businesses will be contacted by the neighborhood division this year.

Erwin Gene Potter, 21, Denver, failing to obey a summons, forfeited $23 bond, and improper parking, June 21, forfeited $7 bond.

Old Newspapers Found in Walls Of Residence

Mel Martin of 316 Macon Avenue, Canon City, will have a lot of old reading to catch up on if he wants to make use of some 300 newspapers, dating back to 1890, he found last Saturday between the walls of an old house on Orchard Avenue that he is helping to remodel.

The newspapers were placed as insulation when the structure was built. In some cases, newspapers were placed as a sealer on the walls and plastered down with cement.

The papers include the old Canon City Clipper, the Bingham Bulletin from Salt Lake County, Utah, and others from the central states. Most of the dates are in the 1890's with the most recent date being February, 1895.

Martin, who said he works for Bob Daniels of Penrose, commented that he found a Field and Stream magazine with an 1889 date. He stated that he intended to keep most of the papers to look over and show to friends.

Emphasis on Giving at Work In United Fund '64 Drive

The emphasis will be on giving at work in the United Fund campaign which is being launched in a celebration on top of Pikes Peak today. No house-to-house convass of homes will take place this year, according to William Pfeiffer, chairman of the campaign.

The Women's Neighborhcod Division consists of only 200 workers, compared to 1,500 last year. Their job will be to reach retiried persons and those with home businesses who will not be contacted through the other divisions of the United Fund.

"Employed persons will be contacted at their place of employment only. This will be the only opportunity for them to contrbute to the support of the 33 health, welfare and character building agencies which make up the Pikes Peak United Fund," Pfeiffer pointed out.

"The emphasis continues to be on pledges and payroll deduction on the part of businesses and employed persons. This is the only satisfactory means of providing for the needs of so many agencies. Few people have the cash on hand to make a fair share gift to the many agencies which would have to ask individually for donations if there were no United Fund," Pfeiffer said.

The largest division in the campaign to raise $484,800 is the Business and Industry Division, headed by N. A. (Buz) Rieger of the Exchange National Bank. This division will raise nearly half of the total drive proceeds. Helping Rieger are 33 "loaned executives." These men represent high level leadership, who, in addition to off duty time, are given time by their employers to assist in this major effort, according to Pfeiffer. Businesses and industries employing more than 25 persons are contacted by this division.

The Service Club Division, manned by service club members and headed by Col. Howard Cloud, commander of Ent Air Base and organized by volunteers and staff from the Boy Scouts, will contact downtown businesses in which fewer than 25 persons are employed.

Lee Baker of Baker Realty. assisted by staff and volunteers from the YMCA, will head the commercial division through which outlying firms employing fewer than 25 persons are solicited. Manpower is being provided by board members of the agencies of the United Fund.

Broun H. Mayall of the Colorado Springs National Bank, heads the Professional Division with co-chairmen representing each professional group. They are: Dr. Gordon S. Riegel, physicians; Frank Tillman, accountants; the Reverend Warren Hile, ministers; Dr. James Ryan, Dentists; Dr. Harry Townsley, osteopaths: Dr. Homer Brown, veterinarians; Gordon Sweet, architects; George Williams, engineers; Daniel Quigley, lawyers; Dr. John Ordahl, optometrists.

Mrs. Harrie Hart heads the Special Gifts Division and Mrs. Thomas Fischer, the Neighborhood Division. The commanding generals of Colorado Springs' three military installations head their drives. These are United Fund Board members: Gen. John K. Gerhart, commander of NORAD, heading the Ent drive; Maj. Gen. A. J. Maroun, commander of Ft. Carson and Maj. Gen. R. H. Warren of the United States Air Force Academy.

The Public Service Division, similar in structure to business and industry will be headed by assistant city manager Charles Heitman. Heitman's committee will contact government offices, city, county and federal, school districts and hospitals.

Progress in the drive will be charted on the Mountain Manitou Incline for the third year. The lights in the string will serve as a campaign indicator. The semi circle at the top will not be used. Each light bulb from the bottom will represent about $35,000 in proceeds. The top light in the string will remain lighted to indicate the goal.

Lights will go on each Tuesday after report meetings indicating progress at that time. The first report will be at the kickoff tonight when proceeds to date will be announced.

Accident Rate Up in City For Aug. '64

There were 35 more accidents reported by the traffic bureau of Colorado Springs last month than during August, 1963, according to Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick.

The increase was about 12.8 per cent. August crashes totaled 309.

There was one fatal auto accident last month to bring the traffic fatality total in the city to four so far this year.

McKissick said there were 38 injury accidents with 76 persons injured and one killed during August. This compares with 61 injury accidents, 84 persons injured and one fatality during the same month in 1963.

McKissick said there were four auto-pedestrian accidents last month, 12 involving autoscooters or cycles and 11 autobicycle accidents, with 22 persons were injured in these accidents.

There were 23 hit-run accidents last month, and 90 intersectional accidents.

As usual, the police chief said, 96 of the 309 accidents were the result of inattentive driving. Other improper actions indicated on accident reports included:

Taking right-of-way from vehicles, 63; following too closely, 57; improper backing, 28; speeding, 25; disregarding stop signs and signal lights, 19; improper turning, 12; and driving under the influence of liquor, 9.

Enforcement action was taken in 78 per cent of the accidents causing 254 persons to be ticketed.

Malicious Mischief Reported to Sheriff

Two cases of malicious mischief were reported to the sheriff's department Monday.

The first happened at Loomis Avenue and Catalina Dr., where windows on two drillers were smashed and dirt and sand poured into the tank and radiator of a tractor. The equipment belongs to the A. and L. Amidon Co. Pueblo.

Harold Wayne Kelly, 1902 S. Franklin St., reported the second incident. He told Deputy Sheriff Bob Newman that the antenna had been snapped off his car while it was parked at his home.

Claim Association Opens Annual Meet at Broadmoor

The International Claim Association Monday opened its 55th annual meeting at the Broadmoor Hotel. Some 500 members and guests representing 261 insurance companies in 50 states are expected to attend the three day meet.

Keynoting the first day activities Monday was a talk by Orville E. Beal, president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Beal termed plans of government financed "cradle-to - the-grave health care" a threat that the health insurance industry "can and must meat. . .by providing health care policies and service that fill the health care needs of the public at premiums that are appropriate.

"Our right to continued existence in the health care field is dependent on our ability to make voluntary health insurance work effectively for the public," he said.

Other scheduled speakers on the Monday program were: J. Richard Barnes, commissioner of insurance for Colorado; and Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, superintendent of the Air Force Academy.

Today, the insurance men heard Edward W. Kuhn, president-elect of the American Bar Association, urge swift bi-partisan approval of a U.S. constitutional amendment aimed at acticipating and solving the problems of presidential disability.

". . .The men elected are human beings, the same as you and I. They are fragile and subject to all the illnesses, diseases and tragedies that befall all of us at unforeseen and unguarded moments. The improvised arrangements which with luck have seen us through, are not good enough in this modern age," he said.

Also on today's speaker agenda was Dr. George C. Kyle, University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

William J. McBurney, president of I.C.A. and general executive manager of Prudential, delivered the association "President's Address" and report on the state of the association.

In addition to major addresses, workshops will be held on: individual health insurance, group insurance and life insurance claims.

The three-day meet will close Wednesday with the annual business meeting and election of association officers.

Gloria Edwards Fined $150 on Three Charges

Gloria Edwards, 22, was fined $150 Monday by Municipal Court Judge Allan Asher, on her guilty pleas to discharging firearms, carrying a concealed weapon, and vagrancy.

Judge Asher also levied a 30-day jail sentence against Miss Edwards.

Fines or sentences were imposed on others Monday as follows: Charles Linkswiler, 20, Roanoke, Va., vagrancy, 15 days; Jose Alvarez, 26, Ft. Carson, drunk, $25.

Joe Hammock, 26, Carson, drunk, $25; Dana Hayes, 24, Carson, drunk, $25; Raymond Lockhart, 37, Carson, drunk, $25; Bernie Martinez, 37, 1130 Calvert St., drunk (twice) $50;

FAC to Offer Evening Courses In Art Studies

Two evening courses in art studies will be offered by the Fine Arts Center School with registration scheduled to start today.

Vincent O'Brien will be the instructor in two 12-week courses in oil painting and figure drawing. Both of the courses will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. one night per week. Painting will be on Tuesdays and Drawing will be held on Wednesdays. Beginners as well as experienced students may attend these non-credit classes which are held in the main studio of the Fine Arts Center School.

Before the first class convenes, a short meeting for registration and orientation will be held as follows: Oil painting, today, 7 p.m., in the main studio; figure drawing, Wednesday, 7 p.m., main studio. Access to the school is from the Cache la Poudre Street entrance only.

At these times, Vincent O'Brien will outline the classes, questions may be asked, registrations made and a list of materials supplied. The cost is $25 for each course and students must supply their own materials. The first working session of the classes will then commence the following week.

Manila Women Lawyers Visit

Two women lawyers from Manila, Philippines presently on tour at the invitation of the U.S., visiting legal aid societies and public defender offices in this country, will arrive in Colorado Springs about Thursday enroute to Chicago and a convention there.

Ardeliza Sucaldito and Concepcion F. Zacarias, vice president and secretary of the Free Legal Aid Clinic of the Woman Lawyers' Association of the Philippines, will arrive here from a 2 months visit with legal agencies on the west coast in California and Washington.

While in Colorado Springs, the lady attorneys will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Belmont S. Evans Jr., 3011 Country Club Dr.

Both plan to visit legal and public defender offices in the region prior to departure for the Chicago legal agencies' conference Friday, according to Evans.

Judge Dismisses Riotous Conduct Charges Monday

Judge Allan Asher Monday in Municipal Court dismissed riotous and disorderly conduct charges against two women, stressing that he would give them a 'chance to act like ladies."

"I won't say who's right or wrong," he told the women, "but if you come back, you're both wrong."

The two, Susie Chavez, 31, 220 E. Fountain S., and Rhoda Pacheco, 35, 224 E. Fountain St., had filed counter - complaints. Testimony revealed they had been involved in a fight with each other.

In a second case of counter charges, Judge Asher found Otto Zamastil, 35, Ft. Carson, innocent of riotous conduct and breach of peace. He dismissed a breach of peace charge against Richard Bodhaine, 25, 422 W. Bijou S., but found him guilty of riotous conduct and imposed a $100 fine, with $50 suspended.

Ronald E. Cook, 2918 Maizeland Rd., was found guilty of having a barking dog and allowing the dog to run at large. He was fined $50 which was suspended on condition there is no further difficulty with the dog, which Cook said was now in a kennel.

The case of James Durr, 30, 634 N. Royer St., was continued until Sept. 25. Durr is charged by his wife with riotous conduct and breach of peace.

Also continued until Sept. 25 was the case of Robert Moore, 30, 921 E. Costilla St., who is charged with disorderly conduct, riotous conduct, and breach of peace by his wife. Mrs. Moore requested the charges be dismissed but Judge Asher placed the couple on probation, ordering both to return to court Sept. 25.

On the failure of the complaining witness, Stanley L. Smith, to appear in court, the judge dismissed charges of riotous conduct and breach of peace against Freddie McGraw, 25, 327 S. Prospect St.

Chages of riotous conduct and drunkenness were dismissed against Rudy Martinez, 25, 225½ S. Wahsatch Ave. The man's wife had lodged the charges and Martinez had been on a probationary period, pending no further difficulty.

Cadet Commanding Officer Samuel Larsen was promoted to major, and Cadet Adjutant David Larsen to captain.

Any young person interested in joining the Security Cadet Squadron who lives in the Security, Widefield or Fountain Area is requested to meet with the squadron at the Security Fire House Sept. 19 at 9 a.m.

YMCA Staffers Attend Meeting In Lincoln, Neb.

Three members of the local YMCA professional staff are attending the Association of Secretaries Conference in Lincoln, Neb. this week. Those attending are John L. Stone, general secretary; Keith Bullen, associate program Secretary, and James D. Maul, physical director.

The conference is being held in the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on the campus of the University of Nebraska. The theme of the conference is "New Dimensions for the Professional Society." Special seminars will be held for new secretaries in the work under the direction of Al Hummel, general secretary of the Kansas City, Mo. YMCA and Edwin P. Irwin, area secretary, Topeka, Kan.

The major item of business at the conference this year will be to determine new policies on the structure, membership, governing bodies, dues and finances, and publications relating to the Association of Secretaries which is the professional organization for YMCA workers.

New officers for the West Central Area comprising the states of Colorado, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Wyoming will be elected and installed during the conference.

Four Youths Held Following Robbery

Four youths were taken in custody Monday, shortly after $78.95 was reported taken from the cash register of the Parking Driving Center, 919 E. Pikes Peak Ave., police reported today.

Police recovered $67.05 at the time the youths were apprehended. Investigation sheets were made out and the four were detained for juvenile authorities.

Norman Larsen, operator of the golf driving range, told police that about 4 p.m. he had gone out on the course with an employee, Thomas Telker, to recover golf balls. Telker also stated that he thought all office doors were locked at that time. Larsen discovered the money missing upon return to the office at 5:30 p.m., police reported.

Harrison High Year Book Receives Award

The 1964 "Panther" yearbook of Harrison High School was awarded an A plus rating by the National School Yearbook Association.

N. S. Patterson, founder and director of NSYA, personally rated it one of the top five per cent in the country and requested a copy for his files.

Other staffers included: Sandy Johnson, Linda Leonard, Chris Mulawa, Becky Richardson, Pat Robinson, Regina Snair, Kathy Taylor, Sue Dempsey, Bill Phillips, Tom Rich, Carl Noice and Bob Lockyear. Mrs. Estella Gill, English and journalism teacher, was the sponsor and technical adviser.

Publishers of the book were Pikes Peak Lithographing; printers were Service Typographers; and senior photographs were taken by Whits Studio.

Navy's Newest Mission to Be Told Here

The new Four-Ocean Challenge, the Navy's newest mission will be told this evening to the Naval Research Co. 9-26 by Lt. Cmdr. Norman H. Scawthorn.

In this live presentation, Lt. Cmdr. Scawthorn will discuss the seaborne striking forces of this nation and how the Navy with its mobility can engage in all forms of warfare in all waters of the world.

In talking to the Reserve Naval officers, Lt. Cmdr. Scawthorn will also go into advances sciences, sciences facing the Navy in this Four-Ocean challenge. This reserve company is composed of prominant scientist, engineers and medical men of the Colorado Springs area.

Police Chief Attends Estes Park Seminar

Canon City Police Chief Ken Owens returned home Sunday after attending a two-day seminar in Estes Park. The seminar was the semi-annual meeting of the National Academy Associates, Rocky Mountain Chapter, sponsored by the FBI.

Members are law enforcement officers from Colorado and Wyoming who have attended the FBI Academy in Washington, D. C.

Owens said the program included discussions on new state legislation affecting law officers, and the new civil rights act, passed by Congress.

Quine Petitions Available for Signing Here

Petitions to include James F. Quine as an independent candidate for district court judge, eastern division, on the general election ballot may be signed from today on.

.The petitions will be in the sheriff's office, El Paso County Court House; the county commissioners' office, County Office Building, and the home of Donald Kopis, 6 E. Van Buren St.

County Judge Charles J .Simon is a candidate for the office and he and three other local attorneys have already made two successful attempts to keep Quine off the ballot when they challenged his petitions for designation as Republican candidate.

As Quine is now seeking to run as an independent candidate it is still possible that Simon will receive some competition in the general election.

Firemen Answer 95 Alarms During August

The Colorado Springs Fire Department answered 95 alarms last month.

Fire Chief Fred H. Lausch said he expected the number of alarms to increase sharply in the next two months as weeds become dry and a fire hazard.

Property owners are urged to cut and dispose of weeds to cut down on the number of grass and brush fires this fall.

The chief also reported that the department made 27 resuscitator calls last month, an all-time high for any month, and two rescue and assistance calls.

Additionally, firemen spent 953 hours in study and drill, licensed 76 bicycle and inspected 50 boats for stickers.

Services Held Today for Mrs. C. A. Bauer

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. today at Immanuel Lutheran Church for Mrs. Wilhelmena (Minnie) Bauer, wife of Charles A. Bauer, 531 E. Platte Ave., who died Sunday at a local hospital. The Rev. Walter A. Enge officiated. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery. Pallbearers were: Henry Helmbrecht, Lloyd Pryer, John Otteman, Robert Fleming, Clarence Watts and Ben Nolte. Our Chapel of Memories had charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Bauer was a member of Immanuel Lutheran Church. She served as organist and choir director for more than a quarter of a century. She was born in Hamler, O., Nov. 12, 1885. She and her husband were married in Hamler Sept. 19, 1909. Besides her husband is survived by two sons, Paul F. Bauer, of Colorado Springs, and George W. Bauer, Denver.

A Mrs. Charles Bauer Memorial Fund has been established by the choir of Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Six Canon City Seniors Vie for Queen's Crown

Six senior girls are candidates for Canon City High School Homecoming Queen. The candidates were nominated by the football lettermen in the spring of last school year, while the girls were still juniors. The final queen selection will be made by a vote of the student body and sale of season football tickets.

The queen will reign over the Homecoming festivities and will be crowned at half-time of the Pueblo Catholic-Canon City game on Oct. 9. Of the six candidates, one will be queen, two princesses and three will be attendants.

The candidates are:

Miss Carol Hawthorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hawthorne of 1400 Allison Ave.

Boxers Scorn Suspension

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, pardon, Muhammad Ali, was strangely subdued. Challenger Sonny Liston actually smiled. Gov. Endicott Peabody announced they'd meet in a Nov. 16 title fight at Boston Garden — to the surprise of no one.

The World Boxing Association quickly replied that everyone in the room was quarantined, as it were, by a sweeping suspension. Clay's title was lifted.

Clay, deep in thoughts of the Black Muslims and a 30 per cent slice to a predicted $5 million purse, looked as concerned as an elephant bitten by a gnat.

"Who are the WBA, they oughta be investigated," Liston said in scorn.

The WBA had threatened in advance to refuse to recognize a rematch.

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which has bounced in and out of that fistic forum faster than a man on a trampoline, as has Michigan, said it felt the safeguards it had undertaken would satisfy the WBA.

"This isn't really a return bout," said commissioner Ed Urbec. "We've arranged a fight between the champion and the top contender.

"We shouldn't have been allowed to vote in the last WBA meeting anyway. We didn't pay our dues last year or this year because of our financial condition.

"I can't visualize the public not accepting Clay as the champion. Titles are won or lost in the ring. This is the fight the public wants."

Gov. Peabody wasn't too concerned, either. "I look forward to a great "fight," said the chief executive who did not win his par'y's renomination in the state primary.

The State Commission, in its statement, outlined stipulations for the 15-round bout. Chief among them is that the winner must post a $50,000 cash guarantee he'll meet one of the top four rated contenders as listed by the WBA within six months after the fight.

The commission expressed the opinion it had set up safeguards "against all the evils which have bedevilled the heavyweight division in recent years."

"We will," intoned commission chairman Herman Greenberg, "be avoiding the confusion which would attend the stripping of a title froma champion and institution of a tournament which could lead only to confusion."

The next step the WBA is expected to take, having now declared "no recognition" of the fight and "no champion" is to set up a tournament to settle the title.

Merv McKenzie, newly elected president of the World Boxing Association, said from Toronto the mass suspensions became automatic when the fight was signed.

"Nothing can override the WBA resolution (denouncing a rematch)," said McKenzie.

Liston suggested the body stick to its resolutions and he'd stick to Clay's body long enough for a knockout and recapture of the crown recognized here and there — but certainly not everywhere.

Bostonians seemed calm in the face of a ban issued by outsiders but then it's old hat here. Parliament and the crown tried that jazz in the 1960s.

At any rate, the fight is on at the Garden where 13,909 is the legal capacity and where tickets will be scaled from $50 to $10.

Sam Silverman, partial promoter along with Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., estimated it would produce a $450,000 gate with the rest of the money radio, and foreign rights, including movies.

Both contestants will get 30 per cent of the whole pot.

"I had to talk big at first to bring attention," he replied. "I was campaigning before. Now I'm in office and don't need to talk as much."

Liston said the shoulder ailment which caused him to throw in the towel at the last fight is fine now and that "it's going to be entirely different this time."

Asked why he was smiling and Clay was frowning, Liston replied:

"He knows what he's in for and you don't."

Each accused the other of using a foreign substance on his gloves the last time, then Clay feigned sleep and snoring at which Liston commented: "He's getting used to it now."

Clay said he plans to reduce his weight from 230 to 220, Liston from 221 to 210. They will do preliminary training in Miami Beach and Denver, respectively, but must be in the Boston area at least 21 days before the bout by contract stipulation.

SCL's Record Below Par After First Two Weekends

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gaztte Telegraph Sports Writer

The South Central League, which is in the habit of fashioning an impressive record against non-conference opposition, may not recognize itself this week.

The state's elder southern circuit completed its second session of 1964 contests over the weekend and was left holding the worst mark the conference has shown at this point in a number of seasons. Only two clubs out of the seven managed victories, leaving the SCL with a 5-7-1 record heading into the final big weekend of non-league activity.

If last week's results were any indication, improvement may not be forthcoming this Friday and Saturday. Four of the teams that roughed up SCL members over the past weekend appear on the schedule again. The most formidable of the group is Lakewood and the Tigers will be waiting in their own quarters for a meeting with Pueblo Central after whipping Wasson 20-7 in the Thunderbirds' stadium last Friday.

Two Southern League teams who shocked a pair of Pueblo schools will be after another pair of upsets this week. Lamar, a 14-13 victor over defending SCL champ, Pueblo Centennial, travels to Colorado Springs to battle Palmer Friday night. The same evening La Junta goes against Pueblo East. La Junta nailed South's Colts, 8-6, last Friday.

The fourth member of the spoiler group is Pueblo Catholic, the club which startled Central with a scoreless tie Saturday night. The Shamrocks and Centennial open this week's action with a rare Thursday night contest in Pueblo.

Other games this weekend will send Wasson to Arvada West where the Thunderbirds hope to snatch their first triumph; Trinidad to Guymon, Okla. where Dutch Nogel's always-imposing Miners will be after their third straight; and Air Academy High to Pueblo South for the first meeting between those two schools.

Despite the deluge of setbacks for South Central teams, two of the conference's more formidable members managed to keep their noses clean last weekend. Pueblo East, an early mention as a title possibility, defensed its way past strong Poudre Valley of Fort Collins, 6-0, and Trinidad swamped Raton, N. M., 46-7. The league's only other first week winner, Palmer, slipped the second time out, losing a 7-0 decision to Golden.

There are factors that make the early results somewhat misleading, however. Despite a pair of defeats, Wasson still looms as a solid threat once the league campaign is launched. In Aurora Central and Lakewood the T-Birds have gone down before two of the state's top-ranked clubs and Wasson coaches were highly encouraged over the team's showing against the Tigers.

Lakewood's rangy, powerful line had just too much experience for the Thunderbirds in what was an excellent early-season contest at Wasson Stadium. The Tigers' Steve Tracy broke for two long touchdown runs and passed for a third to account for the Lakewood scoring.

Palmer did everything but whip Golden on the scoreboard in its Saturday date with the Jefferson County team. One of five Palmer fumbles was turned into the game's only touchdown in the third period. Despite an offense which produced 249 yards, the Terrors could never get across the goal stripe.

Pueblo East used its patented strong defense to whip the hefty Poudre Valley club. The Eagles shut off the home team with just 97 yards rushing and pushed over a third-quarter touchdown after fullback Jim Selek picked off a Poudre Valley pass and returned it to the seven yard line.

Centennial yielded a pair of touchdowns to Lamar and then battled back with a pair of its own, only to have Charles Mastrini's second successful conversion nullified by a penalty and the final try blocked. The Bulldogs were back on the Savages' five yard line when the final gun sounded.

La Junta upended Pueblo South for the second straight year with the aid of a first quarter safety; Trinidad broke open a scoreless duel with 18 points in the second quarter and coasted to victory; and Central stalled several Pueblo Catholic drives to protect its scoreless tie in the other weekend action.

Canon City Has Best Mark Among Will Rogers Teams

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Although Canon City's new grid boss, Don Stimack, indicated prior to the season opener that he didn't know whether or not his gridders would prove tigers or pussycats, the Tigers have compiled the best nonconference mark in the newly formed Class AAA Will Rogers League.

And last weekend the Canon City aggregation picked up its second straight win to lead the five-team loop in non-league play. They are the only team in the Will Rogers League with an undefeated mark.

This weekend the Tigers will attempt to record their third straight win as they journey north to tangle with Iver Ranum Friday night. Other games that same night call for Harrison at Castle Rock and in the only area contest Friday, the revamped Gladiators of Widefield, which fell victim to Iver Ranum two weeks ago, host upstate Thornton.

Saturday's agenda calls for two games when Air Academy High goes against a South Central League team, Pueblo South, for the first time a WRL team meets a SCL team on the gridiron, and Cheyenne Mountain has its third straight home game this time meeting Bear Creek.

The Pueblo South-Academy High game is slated to be played under the lights in the Steel City, whereas the Cheyenne eleven hosts Bear Creek in an afternoon outing beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Last weekend all but one of the Will Rogers League teams posted victories, including Academy High's stunning 20-6 triumph over beefy Thornton. Widefield downed visiting Brighton, 19-12; Cheyenne thraeshed Mapleton, 41-0; and Canon City picked up its second win dumping Pueblo County, 20-40.

The only loss in the WRL circuit came when pesky Fountain pulled a surprise upset over Harrison, 14-7, last Friday to present the Panthers with their first loss. Two weeks ago, Bob Irving's Panthers waxed Pikes Peak League member Crowley County, 46-0, and for a moment overruled their coach's bleak outlook for the young, inexperienced squad this season.

But the Harrison crew fell from their short-lived success when they tangled with Fountain of the PPL. How the Panthers will compete in the competitive WRL pennant chase remains to be answered. However, Irving is a veteran of 12 years of coaching and the former Cheyenne coach could find the key to success prior to the loop opener on Oct. 2.

After succumbing to crosstown rivals St. Mary's 2 weeks ago, 12-7, the Cheyenne gridders under the direction of Coach Guy Barickman came back strong to throttle Mapleton last weekend. The Indians not only proved they are strong at fullback with 195-pound Greg Cramblit providing the running power, but the 1963 State Class AA champions also came up with a fleet-footed halfback in Doug Heyliger who ran wild on punt returns and scored two TDs.

Cramblit was the leading ground gainer with 115 yards rushing for 15 carries.

With a new quarterback at the helm, the Kadets found the working formula to easily handle Thornton and lived up to their rating as the top challenger to Cheyenne in the race. Jon Sparks, the Academy High sophomore ace who sat on the bench during the opening game two weeks ago when the Big Blue went under to Boulder Fairview, guided the Kadets' forward attack with authority and poise.

Sparks passed to speedster Bill Wood for two touchdowns and completed enough passes to pick up 185 yards passing. The WRL teams will be faced with stopping the Sparks-Wood passing duo and will also have to deal with the Kadets' hard-driving fullback Roger Karolick.

Norm Theiss, faced with the task of trying to decide which of three capable quarterbacks to play, moved two of the field generals to a running slot and last weekend the strategy paid dividends. His latest move was to put junior quarterback Eldon Lee to a running position and Lee came through with flying colors gaining 70 yards rushing.

In addition, 208-pound fullback Tom Nigbur, the Glads' biggest and fastest back, improved vastly and was the leading ground gainer with 103 yards gained rushing. Theiss' 17-year-old son, Dave Theiss, guided the Widefield offense with smooth control and displayed a flair for passing.

Canon City's Dennis Meese had a field day against Pueblo County as the Tiger flash zoomed for runs of 45 yards, 38 yards and 11 yards to score all three touchdowns.

BETWEEN THE LINES

Fresh QB Blood

Judging from the response of Monday's first big meeting of the new season, it looks like the local Quarterback Club is on the right track toward building back interest which has tailed off slightly over the past couple years.

The overflow crowd at the Candle Light Inn strained the kitchen facilities, especially for the stragglers, but any inconvenience was forgotten by the time Ben Martin had finished his usual entertaining soliloquy on his latest product of the gridiron.

ANDY GAMBUCCI
Club's New Prexy

The club is now under new direction of president Andy Gambucci, assisted by veepee George Danskin, and the fresh blood is expected to turn up a few original ideas on cussing and discussing the regional sports fare.

Gambucci, of course, can call on a wide experience in sports to brighten the club's weekly bread-breaking. This should make for variety in programming . . . and a shot in the arm to attendance and membership participation.

Recently, Gambucci's athletic endeavors have been pretty much restricted to an occasional Nassau con-game on the first tee of several local golf emporia, a one-man band with whistle in the striped shirt uniform of a hockey official, and the celebrated annual appearance of the ancient from yesteryear's puck pushers against the Colorado College varsity.

A grad of CC, Gambucci was one of the better running halfbacks since the heydays of Dutch Clark, and during the early 1950s he was with the league champion Tiger hockey team. He took time out of school to play with the U.S. Olympic team in '52, and since has been in the thick of supporting and promoting the fast winter sport throughout the region.

Although those who probably will put up a stiff argument — especially from the state's capitol — Andy is considered by most rinkside experts as the best of hockey officials. He has worn the black and white of referee in national championships for the past several years, and while calling 'em close and with little mercy he has earned the respect of players in the toughest intercollegiate league in the land.

Under the firm hand of Gambooch, the Quarterbacks could be on the way back to the status of a few years ago when the meetings were a "must" for every enthusiastic sports fan in the area, and when the membership rolls included several hundred names.

What with another change in the rules for this year — as has been the case almost every fall since Gambucci's playing days — the Falcons will be joining most of the other college teams in going to platoon substitution. This year the rules say a team can change a complete unit any time the clock is stopped.

"Actually, we have only two people who are one-way players," the Air Force coach told the Quarterbackers. "These are the ones we can send in at any time whether the clock is stopped or not. The rest have 'limited' ability to play either way — like knowing how to line up."

Martin indicated some teams are going to have their troubles getting the right unit into the game at the right time. "Those who watched UCLA against Pitt last Saturday saw how they will be taking penalties or going to any measure to stop the clock."

But unlike UCLA, which Martin says is "fully dedicated to the two-platoon system this year," the Air Force will not have to go to such drastic steps to get the offenders into the game when suddenly they get the ball.

"This can be pretty rough when the offensive team happens to drop the ball on their own five, with no time outs left. Just the time when you would like to send in about 15 guys, only two substitutes are allowed."

Martin said he felt his Falcons "are as ready as any team I've had at the Academy. But the first two games will be a key to the rest of the season. We've got a half dozen young players who will feel like they're going into a meat grinder in those first games."

Martin, of course, was referring to this Saturday's opener at Seattle against the University of Washington (pre-season pick on the West Coast), and then the following weekend's journey to Ann Arbor to meet the University of Michigan, another opponent expected to end up in the top 10 of the country.

Most of the time at the rostrum was spent giving terse descriptions of his 22 on the starting "eleven" — the offensive and defensive units, and then he turned the session to questions and answers. But evidently he had explained things pretty well for only a couple were brave enough to face his rhetorical replies.

One asked about Dave Backus, last year's understudy to quarterback Terry Isaacson, who obviously was missing from the roster of starters: "He's our No. 3 man. But with only Tuesday and Wednesday after a game to work and Thursday for cleaning up, we don't have too much time. So we try to get one quarterback ready for an opponent, one will get a little by osmosis, and the third one is just a body on the sidelines."

Another asked about this week's foe, and after listing Washington's All-America candidates Martin said: "Last year's (10-7) win was not only the last minute touchdown drive (by Isaacson and teammates) but it was also because of a standoff in the line earlier in the game. Washington is the type team that tries to intimidate you. But our line wasn't intimidated and we were able to hold them off. I hope our young sophomores can do the same thing."

Nieria's 17-Member Team in Tokyo

The team, which includes 13 teack and field athletes, two of them women, and four boxers, is here at the expense of the Australian government.

AFA Opens Grid Slate This Week

The long awaited Air Force season opener is on tap this Saturday for Coach Ben Martin's Falcons as the Cadets journey to Seattle to kickoff the 1964 campaign against a powerful University of Washington.

Kickoff will be at 2 p.m. (PDT), and 55,300 ravenous football fans will jam University Stadium in a game that has been sold out since mid-July. It's a well known fact that the people in Washington take their football seriously, and that the Huskies will be out to ruffle a few Falcon feathers after last year's Academy win, is a foregone conclusion.

And Saturday's opener will answer the question asked a thousand times by Falcon fans: "How good will Air Force be without the fabulous Terry Isaacson?" Isaacson ignited a 92-yard drive in the waning minutes of last year's game to enable the Cadets to grab a thrilling 10-7 win on national television.

On the basis of last Saturday's final tune-up scrimmage in Falcon Stadium, the answer to the question is, "better than ever." Martin's varsity romped to an 83-7 win over a combination of junior varsity and frosh, and amassed 733 yards of total offense enroute.

Left-handed quarterback Tim Murphy provied his claim to Isaacson's vacated quarterback slot as the senior from LaCrosse, Wis., connected on 13 of 20 passes for 262 yards, and ran for three touchdowns. His 38 yards rushing gave him an even 300-yards total offense for the day.

His back-up man, senior Howard Burkart, took over late in the game and completed seven of eight tosses for 98 yards, including a 17-yard scoring pitch to end Fritz Greenlee. Not to be outdone, Burkart also tallied a touchdown on an 11-yard keeper.

Halfbacks Dick Czarnota and Paul Wargo displayed a good power attack, as Czarnota compiled 65 yards in only five tries, and Wargo ripped the Blue defense for 138 yards on 20 carries.

Another factor that had the Falcon offensive coach smiling was the balanced attack fashioned by the varsity. The Cadets racked up 356 yards rushing and 377 passing while scoring 41 first half points, and notching another 42 in the final two stanzas.

Martin, pleased with his varsity's showing, was quick to point out that the frosh didn't offer much defense, and that the Blue backfield didn't have the likes of Washington's all-coast fullback Junior Coffey or quarterback Bill Douglas.

Said Martin, "The team showed a great deal of improvement in their team work and finesse, and we will spend most of next week polishing our play and trying to put even more precision into both our offensive and defensive units."

A 40-man squad will fly to Seattle, Friday, and headquarter at the Edgewater Inn. The team will return to Colorado; Sunday.

Rowe May Laugh Orioles Into American League Flag

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a fun year for Ken Rowe, the workingest pitcher in baseball, and because of him, the Baltimore Orioles are liable to laugh themselves right into the American League pennant.

Baltimore, shopping around for late-season help in their pennant push, picked up relief pitcher Rowe from the Los Angeles Dodgers' Spokane farm club in the Pacific Coast League last week. He pitched his first inning in relief for the Orioles Monday night and came up a winner when Baltimore pushed across a run in the bottom of the ninth to edge Minnesota 4-3.

Rowe, who seems to thrive on work, set an organized baseball record for appearances, coming in 88 times, before being purchased by the Orioles.

The big 30-year-old right-hander enjoyed all the assignments. "It's been a fun year and I've really been lucky," he said. "I consider it a challenge — a personal challenge — each time I'm called in from the bullpen."

Monday night the Twins challenged Rowe and came out second best. Shut out for six innings by Oriole starter Milt Pappas, Minnesota surged back on home runs by Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall for a 3-2 lead. Pappas left for a hitter in the eighth and Rowe came on to hurl the ninth, his 89th game of the year and first one in the AL.

The veteran pitcher got the Twins 1-2-3 and won it when Luis Aparicio's sacrifice fly delivered the winning run in the bottom of the ninth.

In the National League, Philadelphia stretched its lead to 6½ games, defeating Houston 4-1 for Chris Short's 17th victory. Pittsburgh dropped Los Angeles 7-2 in the only other game played.

Catcher Johnny Orsino opened the Oriole ninth with a single and Bob Saverine came in to run for him. Jerry Adair sacrificed Saverine to second and pinch hitter Lennie Green was walked intentionally.

Second baseman John Goryl bobbled a grounder by pinch hitter Charley Lau, leading the bases. Aparicio then delivered his sacrifice fly and the Orioles' lead over second place New York stretched to 1½ games. Third place Chicago is two games back.

Brooks Robinson and Sam Bowens homered for Baltimore.

Ninth inning back-to-back triples by Dick Green and Bill Bryan tied the game and a ground rule double by Ed Charles won it as Kansas City came from behind against Boston.

John Wyatt, another workhorse, made his 73rd appearance for the A's tying Boston's Dick Radatz for the AL record. Jim Konstanty set the major league mark with 74 in 1950.

Upset Win, Tie Feature Pikes Peak League Play

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Fountain, not rated highly in pre-season Pikes Peak League polls, and Salida, the overwhelming choice to take the PPL crown, both turned in noteworthy performances Friday and can expect some more hard work this weekend.

Fountain pulled the first major upset of the Pikes Peak region when the lightweight Trojans stunned Class AAA Harrison, 14-7, on two long passing bombs. Salida, with 230 - pound fullback Ken Williams bulldozing the path, eked out a 6-6 tie with Alamosa.

In other weekend contests, Sheridan Union clipped Manitou Springs, 19-14; Manzanola stopped Fowler, 21-12; Florence whipped Walsenburg, 24-6; Manzanola stopped Fowler, 21-12; Florence whipped Walsenburg, 24-6; and Buena Vista earned a 7-7 tie with Center. The Las Animas-Crowley County game was cancelled because of a death of a Las Animas player.

Dan Grigsby, 150-pound Fountain halfback, made the receiving end of two passes by Jim Daniels for 71 and 83 yards to rock favored Harrison. One TD came with ten seconds left in the first half, right after Harrison scored its only touchdown. The other occurred in the third period, the first play after Fountain picked off a Harrison pass.

Harrison scored with 26 seconds toplay when quarterback Bill Doud launched a 6-yarder to end Dick Crabtree. Doud used the airways most of the night as he hit on 14 of 26 passes for 136 yards.

Williams is the player everyone looks to when their teams play Salida. He is reputed to be one of the finest backs ever to play in the Pikes Peak League.

The big fullback gave Alamosa a real scare in the second period when he picked up a fumble and spun out 60 yards for a touchdown. In the third period Alamosa's Hal Wilson plunged through the line from six yards out to tie the score. Williams broke through to block the extra point and keep the tie on the records.

Salida must face Delta this Friday night on the Spartans' home field. Delta whipped Glenwood Springs, 34-0, last week. Fountain is in for some rough going as Walsenburg visits. Despite the lopside loss to Florence, coach Joe Keegan feels his Trojans may be in for a rough night. Added to natural differences, Keegan may also be without Daniels, who reported earlier this week with a badly-swollen knee. Doctors give the senior halfback little chance of playing this week.

For the rest of the schedule, Las Animas returns to action at Fowler, Crowley County takes up again at Manzanola, Manitou Springs hosts Lafayette, Florence hosts Pueblo County and Leadville greets Kremmling.

Rookies Show Well In AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookies Matt Snell and Jim Turner of the New York Jets and first-year man Sid Blanks of the Houston Oilers made impressive American Football League debuts last weekend, and their opening game exploits show up in the league's first-week statistics, released today.

Snell, a bruising fullback from Ohio State, is the early rushing leader, having gained 82 yards on 22 carries in the Jets' 30-6 victory over Denver. Teammate Turner, a University of Colorado grad, kicked three field goals and three extra points, tying Buffalo pass-catcher Glenn Bass for the scoring lead.

Blanks, a speedster from Texas A&I, tied the single-game mark for pass receptions, grabbing 13 George Blanda tosses for 131 yards in the Oilers' opening loss to San Diego. Blanks also ran for 53 yards.

"He showed me moves I've never seen before," Houston coach Sammy Baugh said.

Blanda, with 29 of 47 pass completions against the Charger, leads AFL passers. Buffalo rookie Hagood Clarke is the kickoff return leader and Oakland's Claude Gibson the pacemaker in punt returns. Jim Fraser of Denver is the top punter with a 49.0 average on three kicks.

BOWLING

Scoring Boom

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

A 17-year-old Wasson senior, Paul Hoffman, has set the stage for an apparent boom year in scoring for the Colorado Springs area when he set the competitive Pikes Peak Masters League on its ear by taking the individual lead, establishing a whopping 212 game average at Circle Lanes.

Hoffman was an outstanding junior bowler last season and set a new individual single scratch game mark when he fired a 278 tilt in the Father and Son League at Circle Lanes. He also rolled his highest three-game scratch series in his eight years of bowling with a 659 set.

But last week the personable young kegler hit for a new high 666 scratch series paced by a 248 single game. Hoffman has a 212 aveage for two weeks of bowling in the Pikes Peak Masters League, but the modest young bowler didn't know how long he can maintain this remarkable pace.

AREA TOP SCORES — Frank Santiago blasted the ten pins for a 709 scratch series paced by a 259 single game last week at Ute Lanes to highlight the first week of bowling. Chuck VandeZane's 279 single tilt at Bowl-Mor Lanes took the high game honors, followed by Don House (Bowl-Mor Lanes) with a 278 and Bingo Sentena (Peak Bowl) with a 277 tally. Other scores: Jim Daugherty, 693 series (Bowl-Mor Lanes) and Rich Calvird, 644 (Classic Bowl).

BIG SWISS TOURNEY — The Circle Lanes team, composed of Jonny Weinrick, Don Harada Ed Massey, Bill Eckhart and Harry (Ike) Eichelberger, swept to first place in the handicap division of the Big Swiss Classic Tournament conducted at Monaco Lanes in Denver.

The Circle Lanes team, paced by Eichelberger's 212 average shooting, compiled a 3013 to win the handicap division among a field of 24 teams and they placed third in the scratch division. The local team fired a 1091 single team game for the second top score during the two-day tournament.

INTER - CITY TOURNEY — The Mixers walked off with top honors during the twice monthly Women's Inter - City Traveling League last weekend at Fountain Valley Bowl via a 2957 series.

There were 10 teams entered in the competition with Classic Lanes second (2861) and Bowl-Mor Lanes third with 2851. The next outing is scheduled Sept. 27 at Trail Bolw.

TRAVELING TOURNEY — The Belmont Lanes No. 2 team fired a 3073 to top a field of 28 teams during the Southern Colorado BPA Traveling Tournament last Sunday at Bowlero Lanes, Pueblo.

Bowlero No. 1 finished second with 2996, followed by Valley Lanes, Rocky Ford via a 2987. Buddy Boreli of Bolmont Lanes No. 2, posted the highest individual three-game series with a 668 effort and took single game honors via a 258 effort.

The next tournament is scheduled for Sept. 27 at Valley Lanes in Rocky Ford.

Split Pool Greets Bettors For First Time This Year

There was a split-pool pay-off, the first of the current meet which is already one-third on the record books, in the Twin Quin at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club last night.

Three hundred sixty-three persons had exchanged tickets for the second half of Twin Quin, but no one selected the winning greyhounds of the second half of the Twin Quin as they came in. It was T.V. Shane from the George S. Murphey kennel and Track Star from the F. B. Stutz string of greyhounds that made the 2-6 combination.

Fans who had selected the winning greyhound as a "two combination" were paid $22.80 while those who had selected a "6 combination" were paid $204.40. This is also the first time this season that RMKC has made a split-pool pay-off on any type of a wagering pool.

Winning the feature ninth race Monday night was Frank Pierce's Doc Robbie, the greyhound that the odds - makers overlooked. He paid $18.40, $11.40 and $13.80 to those who took him "across the board." George Murphey's Sonic Sue captured the second place at the finish line and made pay-offs of $9.40 and $6.20.

The 1-6 quiniela in the 9th paid $62.80, which was topped only by the 2-6 quiniela combination in the 11th race that paid $82.40.

Hitting the silt tonight in the feature race is the "favored king" from last Friday's "Battle of the Sexes," Another Johnny. Coming from the Frank Pierce Kennel's he'll be keeping company with such hot box favorites as Hustlin Hank, Mr. Can, Miss K Dex, Scrooge Mosher, Bonnie Abbe, Friend W. and S. W. Pat's Boy as he goes for his fourth win on the RMKC oval. His seven starts have brought three wins, two places and a show finish. Six times out for Scrooge Mosher have seen him finish every time in the money, three wins, two places and a show.

Wyoming Team Prepares for CSU Encounter

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—The University of Wyoming footballers ran offensive patterns against simulated Colorado State University defenses here Monday and then tried their defense against expected CSU offensive moves in preparation for their home opener Sept. 19.

"Things are picking up," said head coach Lloyd Eaton as he watched his gridmen going through their paces. "We're starting to gather up the loose ends and get things ready to go."

Coaches were heartened by the appearance of two Cowboys Monday who had been listed on the injured list.

Greenwood Has Lead In Amateur

By JIM BECKER.
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I didn't get this nervous in the Rose Bowl, said Fandel Savic, theold Ohio State quarterback, as he teed up his ball in the National Amateur Golf Championship.

The results bore him out.

The husky glove salesman from Columbus, Ohio, staggered in with a 78 Monday, far back in the pack. When he was doing the passing for football-happy Ohio State he brought home a Big Ten championship in 1949 and a Rose Bowl victory.

The low score at the halfway mark of the 36-hole qualifying test was 71, set by Bob Greenwood, 25, of Cookeville, Tenn.; Dr. Edgar Updegraff, 42, from Tucson, Ariz., Ed Tutwiler, 45, of Indianapolis and Charlie Smith, 33, of Gastonia, N.C.

Five others were at 72, including Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., the 1962 runner-up, and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., former Walker Cup captain.

The colorful Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., finished with three straight bogies for 73. Defender Deane Beman had 74.

None of the name players in the field was in any danger. It appeared that a score of about 150 or 151 over the testing Canterbury course would be necessary to qualify for match play which starts Wednesday.

The best 64 scorers in the 150-man field will advance.

The first 18 holes were typical of the amateur championship, a mighty change from the great stone faces in the pro tournaments who take longer to miss a six foot putt than these fellows do to play three holes.

The field was a collection of youngsters and oldsters, most of whom play golf when they can sneak away from the boss. Savic can't even od that. He is the boss.

"I'm partner in an industrial glove manufacturing company," said Savic, now 39 and bespectacled.

"I'll stop by our Akron office in the morning, and then I'll be out here in the afternoon and try again.

"This is a great game, but I get more nervous here than I did in the Rose Bowl. After all, football is a team effort game.

"In golf, there's nothing but you and that little white ball. But if I don't make it, well, it's been fun and there's always next year."

Bout Set Sept. 26

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Roger Rouse of Anaconda, Mont., won a unanimous decision over Sid Carter of Portland, Ore., Monday night in a 10-round light heavyweight bout.

Rouse knocked Carter down in the second round. Carter finished the fight with a lump over his left eye. Both fighters weighed 172.

Phillies Increase Lead As Short Gets 17th Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the Philadelphia Phillies virtually are running away with the National League pennant, they are enjoying an intramurual game of follow the leader.

Their latest game came Monday night as they defeated Houston 4-1 and increased their lead to 6½ games over the second-place St. Louis Cards, whose game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Chris Short posted his 17th victory against seven defeats with a four-hitter while Johnny Callison rapped three hits, drove in two and scored two.

Bunning won his 14th game Aug. 23, and Short followed suit three days late. Their 15th victories came Sept. 1 and 2, respectively, while the 16th plateau was reached Sept. 5 and 10.

Although Short, who will be 27 Saturday, has lost three more games than Bunning, his earned run average is lower — 1.85 to 2.23. In fact, only Sandy Koufax has a better ERA in the league, 1.74, and he's finished for the season.

Incidentally, if Short and Bunning each win 20 games, it will mark the first time since 1916 that he Phillies have had two winners in that category. Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 games and Eppa Rixey won 22 for the second-place Phillies that year.

In the only American League games, Baltimore nipped Minnesota 4-3 and Kansas City edged Boston 7-6.

Travelers, San Diego Go After Crown

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Arkansas Travelers, who won in the East with the long ball, and the San Diego Padres, who won in the West after a long haul, open the Pacific Coast League championship playoffs tonight.

The Travelers, who set a league record by hitting 208 home runs, will start Dallas Green, 4-1. The Padres, who won seven of their last nine regular season games, will go with Dan Neville, 14-7.

The second and third games also will be played in San Diego and the best-of-seven series will resume Friday night in Little Rock.

The Padres had a 5-3 record against the Travelers this season. Both clubs have made changes since their last meeting.

Little Rock had a 95-61 record and won the Eastern Division title by seven games. San Digo won the Western Division championship on the final day, sweeping a doubleheader from Tacoma and finishing a game ahead of Portland.

Arkansas' leading power hitter is Costen Shockley, who led the league in home runs with 36. Norm Gigon slammed 30 homers for the Travelers and Billy Sorrell hit 22.

The probable starting lineups:

San Diego—Cesar Tovar ss, Shamsky lf, Perez 3b, Tim Harkness 1b, Miles McWilliams rf, Hal Smith c, Terry Banderas cf, Larry Burright b 2.Neville p.

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

© 1964: By the Chicago Tribune

HOLLYWOOD — Met star, Robert Merrill, started his career 20 years ago in the Catskills playing a bartender in a sketch with Red Skelton. Last week he did a vaudevill routine and sang a couple of songs on Red's show; then off to Mexico city for one performance in "Aida." Merrill opens his 20th season with the Met Oct. 12 in "Lucia" with Joan Sutherland. He'll celebrate with a big party later in New York . . . Merle Oberon back in Beverly for a month while Bruno Pagliai is in Ethiopia representing the United Nations. They'll both be home in Mexico to help entertain Prince Philip on his first visit there Oct. 21. Because of protocol, Queen Elizabeth can't go until the president of Mexico visits England. The prince will fly over but, Britannia, the royal yacht, will be in Acapulco waiting for him.

WHILE IN PARIS, Merle went with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor to see a TV picture about Winston Churchill. The producer mentioned he was doing another on Churchill's painting career. When Merle told him the former prime minister had been her first art teacher, he asked her to play a scene for him. She was supposed to leave next day, but the producer assembled a crew, and she stayed to do it. . . . Tony Bill has been busy since getting out of his movie contracts and going east to study acting with Stella Adler. He auditioned for Kermit Bloomgarden's play starring Pat Neal, but before the deal was made got an invitation from ABC to fly out and talk a series called B. M. O. C. My guess is Tony will be the big man on campus.

BOB WAGNER and wife are throwing a party for Sen. Pierre Salinger, who always stops in Hollywood whenever he gets to California — usually around election time. He says it's a nice place to visit but he wouldn't want to live here. . . . . Hollywood's a push-over for a good show and the 1965 Ice Follies is one of the best in town. They do everyting on ice from a musical farm to a festival in Holland in the most spectacular costumes outside a movie set. And why not? They were designed by Oscar Winner Mary Wills.

BOB HOPE take Dolores along to Australia for the Melbourne Cup race in November; has a couple of dates in New Zealand where he plans to buy some horses for his ranch. When Bob and Bing Crosby sold out some oil interests in '49, Hope, on the advice of Joe Rosenberg, put the money into real estate. He gathered up 2,500 acres in the valley which today is worth so much he's ashamed to name the figure. At one time, Bob could have bought four TV stations: "All I had to say was yes, but I didn't think TV was here to stay. That 'no' cost me millions." . . . Jim Backus has two series this fall — Gilligan's Island on CBS follows Mr. Magoo on NBC. When he was asked to record some of those "stay - tuned - to - this - channel" commericials for NBC, Jim refused.

ABC Drops Four New Shows Into Sunday Slots

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. dropped four new series into its schedule Sunday night. At least, ABC calls them new. In spite of a few new faces and a couple of new titles, they seemed very familiar.

First there was the science-fiction-action-adventure effort called "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" after the motion picture from which it was adapted. This 60-minute drama was so full of the various elements on so many fronts it was pretty hard to follow the plot, if any.

There was the super-powerful nuclear submarine and its brave crew on a top-secret mission to the top of the world to balance with atomic explosions a couple of earthquakes that were going to destroy us, Western Europe and Great Britain.

There was also the evil "powerful worldwide force" that wanted the disasters to occur, represented by shadowy bald-headed men with Oriental features who had trouble pronouncing their L's and who smoked cigarettes in very long holders. The hostile force — unidentified — kept bombing the submarine and shaking up the crew but didn't seem to hurt things much. There was also an undersea battle between divers and the biggest, phoniest octopus ever seen on the small screen, Anyway, the bad guys and the octopus lost.

This was immediately followed by "No Time for Sergeants," familiar indeed because it was adapted from a book which became a play which became a movie still seen around on the late shows.

The leading character, a triumphantly naive hillbilly recruit in the Air Force, is played by Sammy Jackon who bears a remarkable resemblance to Andy Griffith, star of the stage and movie version.

It was a pleasant little Army life comedy of the kind that kids the brass but hardly chock full of surprises.

Then came "Wendy and Me," still another comedy, but a husband-wife show with Connie Stevens playing the wife. They live in an apartment owned by George Burns, playing himself.

This one was sadly familiar because Miss Stevens is supplied with the kind of convoluted line that were so funny when handled by the late Gracie Allen. Miss Stevens does not have her timing, skill or authority.

Burns was in his favorite role of off-stage chorus, fingering a cigar and explaining the action —a routine mixup of identities. It was a very trifling half-hour although a manic laugh track tried to suggest it was a riot.

Finally, there was the "Bing Crosby Show," which was pleasantly familiar because of the presence of the easy-mannered, lightly humorous Crosby. But it too was an old, old friend — if there's one thing we see a lot of on television it is those jolly middle-income suburban families.

Bing plays a contented spouse with two teen-age daughters. The opening show had his wife — Beverly Garland — disturbed because their 20-year marriage had "a quiet kind of contentment" when she wanted romantic excitement. That's a theme we've seen on everything from Donna Red to the Flintstones. Even so, Bing is relaxing to watch — perhaps a bit too relaxing, in fact.

Recommended tonight: "Tycoon," premiere, ABC, 9-9:30 EDT — Walter Brennan stars in a comedy series about a self-made millionaire avoiding retirement; "Peyton Place," premiere, ABC, 9:30-10 — first part of a twice-a-week continued story based on the best-selling book and handled like the daytime serials.

McNamara Scheduled To Speak in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — American Legion officials said Monday that Defense Secretary Robert McNamara is replacing President Johnson as keynote speaker for their annual convention here Sept. 22.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, will speak at the convention the next day.

E. A. Blackmore, Legion national adjutant, said he still was hopeful the President could change his plans and address the 40,000 legionnaires and guests expected at the convention.

Yom Kippur Begins At Sundown Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement, begins at sundown today.

It is Judaism's most sacred time, ending the 10 high holy days which began with the new year.

The faithful are expected to abstain from food and drink and to spend all day at a synagogue in prayer and self-exmination.

The observance ends at sundown Wednesday.

With most of Switzerland covered by mountains, two-thirds of the food the Swiss eat has to be imported.

Jacqueline Goes Boating; Finds Hardly a Ripple

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who moved to New York City to get the privacy she couldn't find in Washington, went boating in the middle of town and caused hardly a ripple.

The president's widow, son John Jr., and daugher Caroline took out a row boat on the lake in Manhattan's Central Park Monday.

Mrs. Kennedy handled the oars. John sat in the stern and shouted encouragement. Caroline spent the cruise bouncing from bow to midships.

It was quite a triumph for Rosenberg. Earlier in the day he had enrolled in a school to become a professional lensman.

Complaint Against Pigeons Required

CRANFORD, N.J. (AP) — If you sign a formal complaint against a pigeon in this township the police will go out and shoot him, but not before.

The police had planned an all-out shooting war against the birds, but pigeon-holed this approach because letters and telephone calls flowed in from protesting bird lovers.

Now, says Public Safety Commissioner Edward Gill, the police will ask residents to sign a formal complaint against pigeons which have been held responsible by homeowners for extensive property damage.

Along with the complaint, Gill says, the citizens must sign a release absolving the municipality from any damages incurred during the shooting.

WANTED:

A Salesman Who's Tired of Traveling . . .

If you're a successful salesman but tired of "living out of a suitcase" and regret spending so much time away from your family, then you're the man we want to talk to. If you've felt compelled to stay on your traveling treadmill in order to maintain a high standard of living, we'll tell you about a sound financial opportunity which awaits you in your own city.

If accepted you will be given a brief but comprehensive training course to qualify you to represent one of the nation's fastest-growing mutual fund organizations (assets in excess of $1,500,000,000) with offices from coast to coast.

For further information contact:

Real McCoys Will Scarcely Be Recognized

By BOB THOMAS

Grandpa McCoy — Walter Brennan — has changed his overalls for the fancy duds of a millionaire financier in "Tycoon."

Luke McCoy — Richard Crenna — will be playing a clean-cut, Ivy league-clothes state legislator in "Slattery's People."

And Kate McCoy — Kathy Nolan — will be shipshape and clean-tailored as a wartime WAVE in "Broadside."

Our subject today is Miss Nolan, and the difference in her is more than a change of costume. For one thing, she has dropped 35 pounds from her top "McCoy" weight, own to a slender 97. And there's a new exuberance which she didn't possess during the latter stages of her five-year run in "Real McCoys."

Kathy plays a Navy lieutenant, leader of a group of WAVEs sent to a Pacific Island to take over a motor pool. It has been called the female counterpart of "McHale's Navy," from the same Universal City stable, and indeed the two shows will share some backgrounds. Kathy is carrying the heaviest load of the show on her slim but sturdy shoulders.

"I am just about in every page of each script except for about seven-eights of one page.," she said. "I was talking to Dick Crenna on the phone the other day and we both had to laugh.

"When we were in the 'McCoys,' we were always complaining about how we were always in the background and how we never got the laugh lines. Now he and I are doing shows in which we're in every shot, and we're looking for ways to get less to do!"

But she's not really complaining. Even though she has been in and out of the hospital and the divorce court, she has worked at a steady clip. The fact that she has a share of the series' profits helps maintain her enthusiasm.

First Graders Crawl First to Learn Reading

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Forty-three first graders put on kneepads, got down on all fours and crept around a lunchroom for seven minutes.

A letter to parents explained that Dr. Carl H. Delacato, who has made a study of the subject, theorized that youngsters have trouble learning to read in direct proportion to their lack of neurological organization.

That means, it added, the nervous systems of many children have not been developed adequately.

The letter related that such development goes through stages in infancy, crawling on the stomach. Later, creeping in a cross pattern with the simultaneous movement of one hand and the opposite leg. Next, toddling. At 3 or 4, walking in cross pattern. Then, at 5 or 6, one side of a child becomes dominant, making left-handed or right-handed.

Without such development, the letter set forth, a person becomes neurologically unorganized.

"Eighty-five per cent of all poor readers are badly coordinated," it added, "meaning they are neurologically unorganized."

"It's a theory," the nun continued. "It's not proven yet."

Boyle Proposes 'Badges' for Various Women

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life would be much simpler for men if women wore identifying badges.

I don't mean a badge that says, "I am a woman."

What I mean is a badge that would tell what kind of a woman she was — so a man would know on sight just how to treat her.

In the war between the sexes, women, for all practical purposes, can be divided into three types. Most of man's bewilderment, confusion or absolute dismay in his contacts with a member of the opposing sex is caused by the fact he isn't sure just what type she is.

These are the three types of women:

1. The superwoman who thinks she is better than any man.

2. The shrewd conniver. She demands equal rights with men, but also expects all the special privileges historically accorded ladies.

3. The clinging vine woman. All she wants from a man is everything he has — plus whatever he can borrow at the bank.

It would make for a more ordered world, I submit, if each of these feminine types would wear identifying badges — at least in public.

"Here is a gal who knows more about any topic in the world than I could ever possibly learn.

"Here is a gal who could pin me in a wrestling match, outride me on horseback, or beat me in a gun duel.

"No matter what she says, I will reply, 'Yes, ma'am.' "

For the second type, the shrewd conniver, a proper symbol might be a feminine Janus head, with its two faces looking in opposite directions.

"She's the dependent independent type.

"She wants to compete with me for my job, which she thinks she can do better.

"But if we go out together for a business lunch, she will be too weak to pick up the check. She will also expect me to pay for the cab there and back.

"If it rains, she will expect me to hold my umbrella over her head while my head gets wet."

For the third feminine type, the clinging vine, an excellent symbol might be a startled fawn standing in a cradle.

"It would be fun to cuddle this little baby, but if I marry her I'll have to spoon-feed her, do the dishes, and spend the rest of my life wiping her tears away."

Yes, it would be a far, far, better world for men if women wore identifying badges. But they never will. That's the trouble with the unfair sex. They never give fair warning.

Court Upholds Security Act Constitutionality

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Supreme Court upehld today the constitutionality of the State Employment Security Act.

It had been challenged by the Bayly Manufacturing Co. of Denver in litigation involving payment of unemployment compensation beneits to 13 persons who had bee employed by the firm.

Courts ruling involved the act as it existed before changes in the law became effective last year. The Bayly firm argued the act amounted to a deprivation of due process of law because benefits are paid regardless of any appeals to the courts.

The court's opinion by Justice Edward Pringle held this provision is "the very essence of the act," because it means prompt payments for unemployed persons.

The law says if a decision concerning payment of benefits to an unemployed person is later reversed, "no employer's account shall be charged with benefits so paid."

"Withholding benefits for long periods through the slow process of appeal to the courts simply is not in harmony with the beneficent and remedial purposes of the act," the opinion said.
